GERMANY SEEN YIELDING TO FRANCE

Today

The Immovable Obstacle.
Gone to His Creator.
Intelligence in the Universe?
Three Things We Know Not.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

LEADERS OF ALL parties in England denounce France, and it is probable that President Hoover's opinion of the French government, which he will not express, would make violent reading.

But the French know what they want, and usually get it. In this case, they represent the "immovable obstacle" and the not very "irresistible force," America, England, Germany, etc., will probably accept the French viewpoint, because they can't do anything else.

SOME BELIEVE the desperate "plight" of Germany to be partly imaginary, arranged to produce financial results.

But the French don't think so.

One thing that could happen, with a bad collapse in Germany, would be the rise to power of the so-called "reds," which would mean chaos. Or Hitler, the imitation Mussolini, might make some kind of gesture aimed at France.

FRANCE BELIEVES in being ready, and, yesterday afternoon, Prime Minister Laval lunched at the ministry of war, with Petain and Lyautey, the two leading French marshals. Paris newspapers guess that the Prime Minister and the marshals discussed arrangements for taking care of anything that might happen on the German border.

The long line of forts, recently erected by France along that border, plus the great French army, plus the French air fleet, most powerful on earth, and the fleet of French submarines, could take care of anything that might happen quite easily.

"HE WAS A VERY decent, respectable man," his neighbors said of John Tabeek, who sat last Sunday in New York's Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church, listening to the Rev. Dr. Speer. Tabeek was out of work, out of money, worst of all, out of COURAGE.

Muth verloren, alles verlorren, besser du waerest nie geboren. He would not ask his friends and relatives to assist him further.

So he listened attentively to the sermon, wrote on a piece of paper, "I am going to meet my Creator," swallowed poison, and died.

THAT IS a thing you should not do in a Fifth Avenue church. Fortunately, the 400 worshipers knew nothing about it.

If a million, or 10,000,000, imitated Tabeek, that would attract attention. But an occasional individual, going to meet his Creator, makes little difference.

Did Tabeek, on the other side of the poison bottle, have an opportunity to tell anybody in authority how this world had treated him? Or did he perhaps find that nobody cared, there or here?

PROF. FROST, director of the Yerkes Observatory, finds indications that there exists a "mind" in the universe. He is not like the French scientist, who replied to Napoleon's question concerning God:

"I have no need of that hypothesis."

If a cockroach in a skyscraper could talk, and say: "I believe there is somebody running this skyscraper," you would be amused.

Somebody, somewhere in creation, is amused when one of the little germs on this earth grain of dust discovers indications of a guiding intelligence in the universe.

WHAT ARE vitamins? We know that we can't live without them, that they cure rickets in children, what foodstuffs contain the various vitamins, and scientists have just discovered that two of them, Vitamins A and B, give off some kind of strange radiation.

Rats deprived of certain necessary vitamins have no children. Deprived of other vitamins, they starve to death, although supplied with abundance of food.

Three important things we possess without knowing what they are, electricity, vitamins and the soul of man.

THE UNITED STATES refused to sell 250,000 bales of American cotton to Russia. American cotton growers will wonder why. We would sell cotton, as Lord Beaverbrook remarked, to cannibals. Why not sell to the Bolsheviks? At least, they don't EAT each other.

This week Russia is purchasing 50,000 bales of cotton in Egypt. Our British and Egyptian brothers have no objection to Bolshevik money. Are we not a little provincial, in "good old America," or do we think we were born to tell other nations how they must run their governments, and what they must believe about the sacredness of the dollar, as opposed to the comparative unimportance of the human being.

SOMEBODY STOLE 28 canary birds, as they sat in their cages, singing sweetly. And, having stolen them, turned them loose in the park.

It was mistaken kindness. You might as well take 28 sons of very rich men from their yachts, automobiles or polo ponies, and turn them loose in the struggle for existence.

They wouldn't thank you.

PETITIONERS TOLD TO SEE ADAMS

Capt. Carlson Declines to Act in Bombing Unless Ordered by Harrisburg

Capt. Albert Carlson, of the state police detail at Greensburg, this afternoon refused to enter the investigation of the bombing of the home of Thomas J. Conley, veteran vice crusader, at McKees Rocks, without orders from Maj. Lynn Adams, state police head at Harrisburg.

Carlson told representatives of the Citizens' Committee who visited him that common police courtesy prevented his entrance into the investigation unless requested by McKees Rocks police. County Detective Chief George W. Murren or ordered to do so by Maj. Adams. He said the situation in McKees Rocks admittedly was serious.

The request for state help was spurred, committee members said, by receipt of a number of threatening letters and telephone calls unless they ceased their activities.

Capt. Carlson advised members to communicate with Maj. Adams, which they planned to do upon their return. He said he had been in communication with Chief Murren and had been informed of the latest developments of the investigation of the bombing which wrecked Conley's home and imperiled Conley and his four daughters. He said Murren did not ask him for help.

Women will be welcomed into membership in the citizens committee at a meeting this evening. The organization, whose membership heretofore has been limited to men, was formed to protest against increased taxation in the borough.

Boy to Learn Fate For Killing Officer

CHICAGO, July 14.—(INS.)—Warner Corry, 15-year-old high school lad, may learn today his punishment for the killing of Edward F. Smith, a policeman.

Corry pleaded not guilty and waived jury trial. The state presented its case and reports of alienists yesterday, and the defense was to argue today for leniency so the boy could be placed in some corrective institution, not a penitentiary.

COLUMBUS, O., July 14.—(AP.)—Hoke Donithen, 57, Marion attorney and lifelong friend and political associate of the late President Harding, was reported as "holding his own" at Grant Hospital today.

RUDY HOPEFUL FOR MOTHER

WESTBROOK, Me., July 14.—(INS.)—Rudy Vallee slept last night in a cot close to the bedside of his mother, his hand clasped in hers.

Today he scarcely left the room where Mrs. Charles Vallee, 61, is fighting for her life. His mother pleaded:

"Don't leave me, son."

The radio crooner replied:

"No, mother, I won't."

Last night Rudy, whose real name is Hubert, and his brother William sped here from New York, using airplanes for most of the journey.

His honeymoon with Fay Webb interrupted by the threatened tragedy, the singer and orchestra leader still held out hope. He said:

"My mother's condition is as

FORBES FIELD, July 14.—The Pirates had a distinctive Waner flavor at they battled the Phillies in the first game of a double bill this afternoon. Lloyd, his bad leg improved, was back at his post and Brother Paul also enacted his regular role. Forrest Jensen cavorted in left field.

Pitcher John Vanusek, lefthand rookie pitcher who trained with the Pirates last spring and who later was farmed out to Binghamton, of the New York-Pennsylvania League, worked out with the Pirates. The youngster has been returned by Binghamton. The Pirates will make an effort to place him again.

The game in detail:

The trio flew here from Tulsa, Okla., to help dedicate the landing field which citizens hastily laid out after Will had made several jibes about their laxity.

W. D. MANSFIELD CANDIDATE FOR COMMISSIONER

McKeesport Senator Says Office Needs 'New Blood;' May Run With McGovern

State Senator William D. Mansfield, of McKeesport, president of the McKeesport Chamber of Commerce, newspaper publisher and banker, has announced his candidacy for one of the two Republican nominations for county commissioner.

He has been considered a potential candidate for some time, and his name has been mentioned frequently as the probable running mate of County Commissioner C. C. McGovern, who is expected to run in the Republican primary to succeed himself. Mansfield, however, made no reference in his formal announcement as to his probable alignment.

Mansfield has been in the Senate since 1923 and was the storm center during the organization of that body last January, when, as Gov. Pinchot's candidate for president pro-tem, he lost to A. F. Daix, Jr., of Philadelphia, by only two votes.

LEGISLATIVE POSTS

During the Legislature sessions of 1927-29 and 31, Senator Mansfield was chairman of the Committee on Education. He has been chairman of the McKeesport Republican City-County Executive Committee since 1921.

Senator Mansfield was born in

HOT WAVE BACK, ONE OVERCOME

Pittsburgh settled down today for another spell of warm weather. One prostration was reported within the past 24 hours.

With the government thermometers hastening towards the 90 mark at noon, Forecaster W. S. Brotzman predicted the temperature would reach 94 or higher by mid-afternoon.

No relief is in sight tomorrow, he said, promised rains having veered away from the Western Pennsylvania district.

Overcome by the heat at South Eighteenth and Monastery streets last night, Thomas Weiss, 33, of 21 St. Thomas street, was reported recovering in South Side Hospital today. Weiss collapsed in the street and was taken to the hospital by police.

Wrestler in Fatal Picnic Bout Freed

Peter Borish, 35, of 236 Helen street, McKees Rocks, today was released on his own recognizance pending an inquest into the death yesterday in the Ohio Valley Hospital of Andrew Kucharski, 52, from a broken back. Kucharski was injured while wrestling with Borish at a Lithuanian picnic, Sunday.

Belgians Seek Pilot Dropping Rebel Bills

BRUSSELS, July 15.—(AP.)—Twelve Belgian military pilots who flew over a town near Brussels in an air parade yesterday were arrested today for investigation. Authorities were trying to identify the pilot who dropped leaflets reading:

"Down with the King."

FALL ALLOWED JAIL CHOICE

WASHINGTON, July 14.—(AP.)—Albert B. Fall's jail sentence of a year was changed today to a year and a day to enable him to serve his time in a western prison.

The Attorney General is expected immediately to designate the prison where the Former Secretary of the Interior will serve.

The clerk of the District of Columbia Supreme Court will then send a warrant of commitment to the United States marshal in New Mexico or Texas, and he will take Fall to prison.

The Department of Justice has asked the warden of the New Mexico Penitentiary if Fall could serve his time there and the warden replied that he could.

Frank Hogan, Fall's attorney, moved before Justice Bailey in the District of Columbia Supreme Court that the sentence of a year in the District of Columbia jail be amended to a year and a day in a penitentiary. His plea was granted.

Under the new sentence Fall will become eligible to parole in four months, but the fact that his fine of $100,000 has not been paid would require an additional 30 days of service if he should take a pauper's oath, instead of paying the fine.

Girl Flier Injured In Landing Crash

JONESVILLE, Mich., July 14.—(INS.)—Jeannette Lempke, young aviatrix believed to be from Indianapolis, was injured near here today when her Great Lakes biplane nosed over in an attempted forced landing.

Due to a clogged gas line, the plane's motor stalled at a height of 1,500 feet. Miss Lempke was believed to have been en route to Bay City, Mich., a summer resort.

CREDIT PANIC SPREADS IN CENTRAL EUROPE

Hungary Closes Its Banks As Means to Avert Runs; Berlin Quells Rioting

By OTTO D. TOLISCHUS
International News Service.

BERLIN, July 14.—Definite indication that Germany is preparing to yield to France in order to obtain the credit she needs to save herself from bankruptcy and ruin was given late this evening by the Berlin newspaper Germania, official organ of Dr. Heinrich Bruening, chancellor of the Reich.

In an obviously inspired statement appearing in a late edition, the newspaper called upon France to "show consideration" for credit action on behalf of Germany as sanctioned by the Bank of International Settlements. The newspaper declared:

"If France now heads a credit action, she will be credited with the salvation of Germany, and Germany will never forget this move."

HELD SIGNIFICANT

It was regarded as highly significant that the editorial appeared only a short time after Dr. Hans Luther, president of the Reichsbank, returned to Berlin from Basle, where he endeavored to enlist the aid of the International Bank to bolster up Germany's financial structure.

Meanwhile, the Reichsbank announced that the $100,000,000 rediscount credit from the international banks of issue and the World Bank, which matures on Thursday, has been extended for three months.

By OTTO D. TOLISCHUS
International News Service.

With Germany battling against terrific odds to stave off bankruptcy and collapse, financial panic spread throughout Central Europe today.

One large bank in Rumania and another in Austria closed their doors, forcing government authorities to take drastic measures to prevent a general run on financial institutions and duplication of the flight of capital that has left Germany prey to fears of ruin and revolt.

BUSINESS SUSPENDED

In Hungary, the cabinet decreed that all banks remain closed for three days, beginning today, in order to avert a panic. It also ordered indefinite suspension of all stock exchange activities and

'Trader Horn's' Physician On Mercy Flight West

Speeding westward to apply his skill in the treatment of a rare tropical disease to a West Coast victim, Dr. Arthur Torrance, noted hygienist, was to pass through Pittsburgh late today en route to Los Angeles. Dr. Torrance, one time physician of Alfred Aloysius Smith, (Trader Horn), received a summons to come to California upon his return from a recent medical and scientific expedition into the Belgian Congo.

Flying with him in a Transcontinental and Western Air Line plane are two rare crocodile specimens for the University of Southern California Museum.

His latest expedition was to study the ravages of the tse-tse fly. Fears for his safety were felt in America a few weeks ago when reports were received from the Congo that he had been engulfed in a tropical cloudburst.

Toy Windmill Recalls Son Lost by Coolidges

PLYMOUTH, Vt., July 14.—(INS.)—A little wooden windmill on the Coolidge farm here spun merrily at the beckoning of each gust of wind today, but the music of its spinning was melancholy in the ears of an ex-President and his wife, who recalled memories of the son, Calvin, Jr., who had whittled it a short time before his death in Washington.

The windmill was found by Mrs. Coolidge yesterday and placed upon a pole near the farmhouse. For a time Mrs. Coolidge and her husband stood watching the frail blades catch the breeze. They stood there in silence for a time. Then the ex-President turned to the hired man and suggested that he aid him in doing some work on the farm. Mrs. Coolidge lingered in the gathering shadows, watching a little windmill turn.

All banks and private firms stopped payments, thereby causing complete cessation of business. It was understood the government was contemplating a general Hungarian moratorium.

On the heels of these financial failures in countries bordering on Germany came the first clash since the crisis between German Fascists and Communists, the two radical parties which are waiting only a favorable opportunity to turn Chancellor Heinrich Bruening's cabinet out of office and seize the reins of government.

COMMUNIST KILLED

The sharp report of police pistols broke the silence that has descended like a pall over Berlin with closing of all banks and stock exchanges and consequent virtual cessation of business. One Communist was killed and several rioters injured before the antagonists were dispersed. Three were arrested.

Spread of Germany's money panic to Rumania, Hungary and Austria was not unexpected, as these countries, as well as many others of Central Europe, are largely dependent for their existence upon trade with Germany.

With the exception of the Nazi-Communist riot in Berlin, strange, numbing calm prevailed throughout Germany. The country was rigid and immobile, with nervous tension at a high pitch and the people dazed and silenced by Germany's succession of disasters.

The general opinion prevailing here was that the Bank of International Settlements, at its meeting in Basle, Switzerland, while extending a measure of temporary aid to the embattled Reich had actually thrown cold water on its hopes of obtaining long-term credit.

SEE CREDIT REFUSED

The feeling was growing that the bank's decision merely to extend for another three months its portion of the $100,000,000 credit accorded to Germany had served to isolate the Reich from the reserves of fresh gold she feels is needed to stave off ruin.

Directors of German banks, all of which were closed for two days by an emergency decree of President Von Hindenburg, expressed confidence they would reopen on Thursday as scheduled, but well-informed observers were inclined to consider this doubtful unless definite signs of material foreign aid were apparent by that time.

German officials were inclined to pin some hope on the visit here of Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald and Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson, of England, on Friday. A government spokesman informed International News Service semi-officially that the present crisis will in no way interfere with this visit.

With the possibility of renewed bank runs removed for at least 48 hours by the emergency decree, the government proceeded with its efforts to reorganize the affairs of the Darmstaedter Bank. Karl Bergmann, former state secretary, was appointed government commissioner to handle the institution's affairs. The government has guaranteed depositors to make good all of their investments in the closed bank.

Britain Sends Henderson In Effort to End Crisis

PARIS, July 14.—(INS.)—Arthur Henderson, secretary for foreign affairs in the cabinet of Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald, arrived in Paris today to take an active hand in the crucial economic situation facing Germany.

Henderson will confer with French officials in an effort to mediate the dispute between France and Germany that has resulted in withdrawal of French credit from the Reich.

German Newspapers Attack Hindenburg

BERLIN, July 14.—(INS.)—Paul von Hindenburg, 82-year-old president of the German republic, was made the target of newspaper attacks today for his absence from Berlin during the economic crisis.

The chief executive, who has been spending the summer at his country estate in East Prussia, is due in Berlin tomorrow, and is expected immediately to preside at an extraordinary cabinet session.

U. S. SUPPORTS LOAN RENEWAL

NEW YORK, July 14.—(AP.)—While formal announcement was withheld, it was rumored in Wall Street today that American participation in the renewal of the $100,000,000 German credit which falls due Thursday had been virtually decided.

It was said at the New York Federal Reserve Bank that no formal meetings were scheduled for today. It was understood, however, that informal conversations were in progress, and some announcement would probably be issued before the end of the day.

Wall Street has generally taken it for granted that renewal of the $100,000,000 loan would have to be made. Last night's announcement from Basel that the World Bank had decided to renew its participation was expected to be followed by a similar announcement here.

German Royalists Form Green Shirts

BERLIN, July 14.—(AP.)—A new political party called the Royalist-Socialist party, the members of which will wear green shirts for identification, has launched a campaign for restoration of the German monarchy. The first issue of its newspaper today printed a program demanding restoration of the monarchy, repudiation of reparations and the "war guilt lie," re-establishment of conscription, construction of a big navy and recovery of the old German colonies and the Polish corridor.

FRANCE PERILS DEBT PACT

Universal Service.

LONDON, July 14.—Unless France files notice with the Bank of International Settlements at Basle before noon tomorrow that she is not expecting the quarterly reparations payment from Germany due then, the Hoover moratorium will be as "dead as the dodo bird."

President indications are that France has no intention of duplicating England's and Italy's formal notice in that tenor to the Basle institution.

Universal Service was informed officially that if France fails to grant the moratorium, Germany's only recourse is to advance the argument that France has already accepted the Hoover plan in principle, and on this basis decline to make the Wednesday payment.

This may be construed as a definite default by Paris and, if France decides to take a high hand, another march on the Ruhr may be just over the political horizon.

Hitler Deportation Demanded by France

BERLIN, July 14.—(INS.)—Deportation of Adolf Hitler, German Fascist leader, is being demanded by France as one of the conditions of renewed French credits to Germany, it was stated today by the newspaper Angriff, organ of the National Socialist party.

In addition, the newspaper declares, France desires suppression of the National Socialist party and the Steel Helmets, militant Nationalist organization.

Copeland Hopeful After Hoover Talk

WASHINGTON, July 14.—Senator Copeland (Dem.), of New York, discussing the German financial crisis with President Hoover today declared that he felt better about the situation than he did before his visit to the White House. The Senator pointed out that the Darmstaedter Bank, which failed, was small in comparison with some of the banks in this country.

'Don't Believe All You Hear'—Norman

LONDON, July 14.—(AP.)—Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, broke a rule today when, on returning from the world bank meeting at Basel, he gave an interview. It was concise and cryptic. He said:

"I am going home now just as soon as I can get there. All I can tell you is: Don't believe all you hear."

RCA LICENSES UNDER FIRE

WASHINGTON, July 14.—(AP.)—Renewal by the Radio Commission of the 1,409 licenses held by four subsidiaries of the Radio Corporation of America was challenged in effect today in the District of Columbia Court of Appeals by attorneys for Station WTMJ of the Milwaukee Journal.

The appeal attacked the decision of the Radio Commission in so far as it applied to renewal of the license of Station WENR, Chicago.

Elisha Hanson, WTMJ attorney, said a decision for his client would inevitably cause the commission to revoke all of the RCA subsidiary licenses.

The Journal's station has applied to the commission for the 870-kilocycle frequency now used by Station WENR, which since the application was made by WTMJ a year ago, has been taken over by the National Broadcasting Company, an RCA subsidiary.

DUAL CURRENCY PROPOSED IN GERMANY

Bankers Discuss Plan to Reissue 'Rentenbank' Marks Withdrawn in '24

By WALTER DIETZEL
International News Service.

BERLIN, July 14.—A proprosal to give Germany a dual currency temporarily during the present financial crisis was discussed informally today among leading German bankers and officials of the Reichsbank.

This proposal would include establishment of a Lombard bank which would re-issue the "Rentenbank" notes withdrawn from circulation after 1924, when the German mark was stabilized following the wild currency inflation period in Germany.

RENTERBANK WORKS

The bankers suggested that the reappearance of "Rentenbank" notes for circulation strictly within Germany would temporarily meet the present problems arising from a shortage of ready money, and would provide additional circulation without the necessity of circulating more Reichsmarks, guaranteed by the Reichsbank's gold reserve fund, than the present gold holdings of that bank warrant.

MARK SHUNNED

LONDON, July 14.—(AP.)—German marks were refused by England's banks today in payment of bills and in other transactions.

One house which carries a large number of German accounts said the refusal was not because of the precarious situation in Germany, but rather because German banks are closed by government order and exchange operations are impossible.

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, July 14.—(AP.)—Several thousand German tourists were stranded in hotels today because chauffeurs and shopkeepers refused to accept marks. It was recalled that Danes lost billions by the fall of the mark in 1923.

BASEL, Switzerland, July 14.—(AP.)—A number of visitors from Germany were embarrassed today by the refusal of exchange shops to buy their marks.

RUM BOAT SUNK IN BATTLE

NEW LONDON, Conn., July 14.—(AP.)—Coast Guard headquarters here said the sinking of the rum-running speed boat Yvette June, of Newport, in the Sakonnet River today, occurred after the craft had escaped several patrol boats which hammered her with gunfire as she came from Rum Row.

The patrol boat CG-400, which rammed the speed boat, picked up the chase in the Sakonnet River.

The five men taken prisoner, the Coast Guard reported, fired their boat shortly before it went down. One man jumped overboard and was believed to have gained shore.

Three sacks of liquor were taken from the speed boat for evidence. It was estimated she carried 800 sacks. She was 60 feet long.

The Coast Guard said the ramming was accidental.

Pittsburgher Jailed As Rum Runner

BEAVER, Pa., July 14.—Joseph Lubic, Pittsburgh, pleaded guilty in court to transportation of an automobile which contained 20 gallons of moonshine, confiscated in Midland, and was fined $100 and sentenced to four months in jail. Lubic told Judge William A. McConnell he had been framed for causing the arrest of Mike Mihalic, late of Monaca.

"The doctors fear it may be only a matter of hours. They say only a miracle can save her, but there are miracles sometimes. We don't know yet whether she will recover, but we hope so.

"She is conscious. She recognizes me. She has taken some nourishment. After midnight she seemed a little worse, but with the coming of dawn she seemed better. I stayed at her side all night. I would not say she had a sinking spell this morning. She did not seem as well for a time, but I now think her condition is as favorable as can be expected.

death, died at 7 o'clock from suffocation. He had rallied from the fifth probing for the dental bridge which caught in his throat while eating breakfast at the Texas Army post, and at 4 a. m. was believe better than at any time since he arrived here late yesterday.

Doctors had feared septic pneumonia or a general infection, but neither developed. Surgeon General Patterson, of the Army, and Dr. James F. Mitchell, Washington surgeon, had decided the patient could stand no further probing for the teeth until he had regained strength.

The surgeon general said of the last operation:

"They tried and tried to remove the denture, until the patient was exhausted. It is a very unusual case. I don't recall when anyone has swallowed such an object that got down so far."

Had it not been for the prongs of the bridgework, the teeth might have been swallowed, passed to the stomach, and removed by a comparatively simple operation. Had the foreign body stopped slightly higher an operation from the outside might have been attempted.

Nelson was completely exhausted yesterday after Maj. Roy Brown and other Army surgeons tried for two hours to remove the obstruction. He had been given oxygen on his arrival, the trip having been tiring.

TORTURED MAN IDENTIFIES DIAMOND

Testifies 'Legs' Beat Him, Burned Feet to Learn Location of Hidden Still

TROY, N. Y., July 14.—Presenting its case in record time, the prosecution today rested in the trial of Jack (Legs) Diamond, notorious Manhattan gangster and Greene County beer king, charged with burning and torturing Grover Parks on a road near Cairo April 15.

The testimony of Parks, a cider truckman, was the outstanding feature of the trial. As he rapidly related the incidents of the night and told about the brutal suffering which had been inflicted upon him by Diamond and three of his pals, the court remained quiet and the spectators were horrified.

"LEGS'" GAZE WAVERS

As Parks took the witness stand, Diamond watched him very closely, but while he testified that matches and burning paper had been placed at his feet, the gangster's gaze descended and he endeavored to busy himself with copious notes on a table.

Asked by John T. Cahill, deputy attorney general, to identify his assailant, Parks pointed to the defendant.

"Tough old bird," Diamond observed, according to Parks, after Parks had been beaten, his feet burned, and his head and legs pulled toward each other with rope. Parks testified:

"Then they threw the rope over a tree and pulled me up by the neck, and Diamond said to hold me there until I became unconscious."

Parks said Jim Dalton, Diamond's chauffeur, and a girl were with Diamond when Parks was stopped on a lonely mountain road near Catskill, April 15. The state holds the girl was Marion Roberts, New York showgirl, who was indicted with Diamond. She has not been arrested.

TELLS OF THREATS

Parks, a truckman with a business taking him between Albany and Catskill, testified Diamond remarked:

"We'll warm his feet."

They did, Parks continued, using his socks as a bonfire. John Scaccio, Park said, jumped on his bare feet. He was kicked and cuffed by both Diamond and Scaccio, one of the Diamond gang, he said.

All of this, he explained, was to force him to reveal the location of a still, which, he said, he did not know.

Parks said that after it was all over Diamond warned him not to tell of the incident or "it would be just too bad."

James Duncan, a farm boy, who was with him, Parks said, received similar treatment.

PARK ANSWERS COYNE ON KLINE

District Attorney Andrew T. Park doesn't necessarily agree with his political associate, State Senator James J. Coyne, in the latter's opinion that Mayor Charles H. Kline will be acquitted without the jury leaving the jury box.

Coyne's defense of Mayor Kline was made at a political meeting last week. It was made without knowledge of the evidence presented against Kline in the recent grand jury investigation, Park indicated.

Park said:

"I am not affected by the opinion of anyone who has not heard the evidence. The case against those indicted as the result of the grand jury investigation will be prosecuted vigorously and fairly.

"The verdict will be rendered by a court and jury who will have heard the evidence. I feel no comment should be made by me in a matter that is for the court and jury to decide."

Australian Governor Again Cuts Income

CANBERRA, Australia, July 14.—(AP.)—Sir Isaac Isaacs, Australian-born governor general of Australia has voluntarily reduced his salary by $5,500 in view of Australia's financial difficulties and the drastic efforts of the government to effect economies.

Previously Sir Isaac had relinquished his $7,000 judicial pension and the $10,000 annual allowance paid to his predecessor. The total reduction is $22,500—from $67,000 to $44,500.

Death of Old-Time Clown Saddens Circus Folk

ERIE, Pa., July 14.—(AP.)—When they tore down the "big top" of the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Circus here today and packed the wagons and cages and props on the train, somehow there was a feeling among the show folk that they were leaving something behind.

Clowns removing their costumes and grease paint, acrobats packing away their spangles, riders, freaks and barkers preparing for departure talked in whispers of the telegram from Montreal that told them Johnny Slater had died.

The circus payroll shows that Johnny was just the mail man, but to the show people he was the gray-haired, smiling old trouper who once was their chief clown and whose stories of life under the big top in the old days had fascinated them.

Slater became a chariot driver in the circus winter quarters at Phoenix, Ariz., in 1895, but his talents soon were discovered and he became a clown, then chief funmaker.

He became ill recently while the circus was in Canada and was removed to a hospital in Montreal.

Court Upholds Man's Right To Saturday Night Bath

CHICAGO, July 14.—(AP.)—The inalienable right of every American citizen to a Saturday night bath has been upheld in court.

The ruling was given yesterday by Judge Rudolph Desort in Superior Court. It concerned Stanley Norwell, a druggist, against whom the judge issued an injunction to restrain him from taking a bath in the bathroom of the apartment used jointly by him and his estranged wife, Antoinette, on all days except Saturdays.

Mrs. Norwell sued for separate maintenance on May 12 and was given the right to occupy, rent free, an apartment over her husband's store. He was allowed one room there as sleeping quarters. She told the court:

"When we lived together one bath a week was plenty for Stanley. Now he takes one every day. He does it just to annoy me."

The judge refused her plea to keep Stanley out of the bathroom altogether on the ground that a Saturday bath is a necessity.

NAVY OFFICER DEEPENS MYSTERY IN JILTING OF GIRL

CHICAGO SEEKS SHRINERS' NEXT CONVENTION

Syria Temple Campaigns for J. M. Ryall; Cleveland Cheers Parades, Pageants

CLEVELAND, July 14.—(AP.)—Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, in convention here from over North America, made lavish display of their showmanship today with spectacles that began early in the morning and were to continue late at night.

Today, the crowning day of the convention, was started off with a parade of 10,000 uniformed marchers, with bands, drum corps and a menagerie, including camels, elephants, zebras and horses. Thirty-three of the 157 temples in North America had their uniformed organizations in line, with approximately 50 bands.

Besides this noise, Battery B of the 135th Field Artillery, Ohio National Guard, fired a salute of 20 guns.

PASS IN REVIEW

As the paraders concluded their marching at the Cleveland Municipal Stadium, they passed in review before Imperial Potentate Esten A. Fletcher, of Rochester, N. Y., and heard addresses of welcome by Gov. George White and Mayor John D. Marshall, of Cleveland.

Spectacular festivities were to continue far into the evening. Under a huge colored tent were tables spread for 1,600 where the Imperial Divan was to feast.

After the banquet the Shriners were to stage a pageant and fireworks display at the Stadium depicting "A Night in the Orient." The spectacle will be in the arena of the stadium and on a 450-foot stage where a city has been built for destruction by "volcanoes." More than 600 performers were to take part, including a ballet of 300 girls.

CHICAGO CAMPAIGNS

While the shows were being staged a contest was going on between San Francisco and Chicago for the 1932 Shrine convention. Observers gave Chicago the inside track in the race, with Deputy Imperial Potentate Thomas J. Houston, of Chicago, succeeding Fletcher on the supreme post. Chicago campaigners also pointed out that its city had not had a Shrine convention in 20 years, while its rival had entertained the nobles in 1922.

Syria Temple, Pittsburgh, was represented by 700 nobles campaigning for the election of J. Milton Ryall for outer guard.

Abolishment of state lines in Shrine membership was one of the more important proposals to be considered by the imperial council session. The proposal was made by James H. Anderson, of Chattanooga, Tenn. Temples now have jurisdiction only in the immediate district of the state where they are located.

Keenan, seven feet tall, was cut on the neck when a bottle of stench fluid was tossed in the lobby of the Hotel Winton. More than 100 persons were routed by the incident, which police blamed on hotel labor troubles.

SAYS FIANCEE KNOWS WHY HE BALKED

International News Service.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., July 14.—Further mystery today enshrouded the sudden postponement of the wedding of Miss Edwina Putnam, pretty daughter of Lieut. Col. and Mrs. Russell B. Putnam, of San Diego, to Lieut. William Vincent Deutermann, of the Navy.

The ceremony, which was to have occurred Saturday night at the Putnam home, was postponed when Lieut. Deutermann, who is the son of Mrs. William Deutermann, of White Plains, N. Y., on Friday telegraphed to the pastor who was to perform the marriage, the following message:

"Your services will not be required."

SAYS GIRL KNOWS WHY

The added mystery came from Lieut. Deutermann's statement to an International News Service correspondent in which he said:

"Miss Putnam and I know why the ceremony was called off, but her parents do not."

Meanwhile, Mrs. Putnam, informed that Deutermann had declared he and Miss Putnam might "be married soon," countered with a firm declaration to the effect:

"There will be no wedding under any circumstances."

REFUSES STATEMENT

Located on the submarine tender Holland, Lieut. Deutermann was asked:

"What is your explanation for the cancellation of the wedding?"

He replied:

"I have absolutely no explanation to make at this time, both in fairness to myself and Miss Putnam.

"I am going to talk to the family and after it is all over it will be just something to laugh about. Miss Putnam and I know why the ceremony was called off, but her parents do not.'

DENIES RIVAL EXISTS

Rumors that another girl was concerned in the case were denied by Lieut. J. R. Topper, classmate of Deutermann's at Annapolis and his close friend.

At the Putnam home Col. Putnam asserted that he had not talked with Deutermann since the postponement of the wedding. He said:

"The lieutenant is perfectly free to come here and I will be glad to talk to him."

He declared that he could not answer as to what his reactions would be if Deutermann called at the home.

Collecting Dollar Costs 70 Cents In New York

NEW YORK, July 14.—(AP.)—Litigation costs eat up approximtaely 70 per cent of the moneys involved in a civil law suit brought in New York, the Institute of Laws of Johns Hopkins University reveals today in its study on that subject.

An analysis of 527 cases indicated that it cost $140.33 to collect $201. This is divided at $67 for the plaintiff and $73.33 for the defendant. And it takes about two to three years to dispose of a case.

ADMITS POSING AS U. S. AGENT

William Hughes, 24, who said he was an investigator for a private detective agency of Washington, admitted in Central Police Court today he had posed as a federal officer on an important mission to obtain a suite of rooms at the Roosevelt Hotel.

He also admitted depositing a worthless $1,000 check in a Wilkinsburg bank to get a pad of check blanks and pass book.

He was arrested when he failed to pay a board bill of $27, police testified.

RANCHER HOLDS LION'S TONGUE TO SAVE LIFE

Attacked by Injured Beast, He Keeps Grasp Until Friend Comes to Rescue

LIVINGSTONE, Rhodesia, July 14.—(AP.)—Attacked by a wounded lion which had set upon him in the jungle, a rancher named Gleimann seized the beast's tongue and held on until a friend killed the lion with a rifle.

Gleimann said he had set a trap for the lion after it had made depredations upon his stock. A trap gun wounded it and Gleimann followed the trail into the forest. He came unexpectedly upon the beast and it sprang upon him.

His cries brought Lovatt Campbell, an Englishman, who dispatched the lion with the last cartridge in his gun. Gleimann had been severely mauled but will recover.

NEW YORK, July 14.—(AP.)—Zoological experts here were inclined to smile at the story from Rhodesia of the rancher who held a lion by the tongue until a companion shot the beast, but they wouldn't say it was impossible.

Dr. William Reid Blair, pathologist at the Bronz Zoo, said a lion's tongue afforded but little grasping surface and that little was very slippery, adding:

"The story from Rhodesia sounds just about as slippery as a lion's tongue, but I wouldn't say flatly that it couldn't be true."

CURTIS IN DOUBT OVER NEXT JOB

WASHINGTON, July 14.—(AP.)—Vice President Curtis said today he still was withholding decision whether to be a candidate for re-election next year or to run instead for his old place in the Senate from Kansas.

Some of Curtis' friends who have talked with him since he returned from a trip home believed he is inclined at present to choose a Senate candidacy. They have received the impression, however, that he will make no actual decision until next fall. He said:

"I have told no one what I will do. When anything can be said, I will say it myself."

LEBRIX, AIDES REACH TOWN AFTER CRASH

Mechanics Salvage Plane in Siberian Wilds; Americans Continue Trip in Mexico

MOSCOW, July 14.—(AP.)—Joseph Lebrix and his two companions, who cracked up in the middle of Siberia on a projected nonstop flight from Paris to Tokio, have reached the town of Nijni-Udinsk, near where they fell, advices to the Tass Agency said.

One wing of their plane, the Hyphen, was smashed, but the fuselage is intact, the dispatches said. Lebrix and his companions expect to return to Moscow by train, bringing their motor and instruments with them.

One of the fliers was injured about the leg and the others received injuries to the head when they took to their parachutes after trouble had developed in the motor.

4-DAY TRAIN TRIP

Mechanics have reached the scene of the crash and are collecting what is left of the plane. The train on which Lebrix and his companions will come back here requires about four or five days for the trip.

Aviation officials here said the Frenchmen had encountered bad weather after passing Moscow and the high winds and heavy rains probably had placed too great a strain on their engine.

The place where they are reported to have come down is a sparsely settled region in the middle of Siberia without telephone connection.

The fliers are believed to have followed roughly the route over which Wiley Post and Harold Gatty flew.

RESCUED BY PLANE

TAMPICO, Mex., July 14.—(AP.)—Seth Yerrington and Edward Maloney, whose attempted non-stop flight from New York to Mexico City ended in a forced landing on the lonely Tamaulipas coast yesterday, took off for the Mexican capital in a passenger plane this afternoon.

Both fliers said the pilot who sighted their plane on the beach yesterday while he was flying a passenger ship to Brownsville had saved their lives by reporting their plight.

HUNGARIANS IN PERIL

HARBOR GRACE, N. F., July 14.—(INS.)—The plane Justice for Hungary, which arrived at the local airport last night from Roosevelt Field, N. Y., en route to Budapest, had a narrow escape when caught in a fog two hours away from Harbor Grace, it was revealed today.

Lieut. George Endres told International News Service today that he struck fog after passing over North Sydney. It did not clear up until he was within 20 miles of Harbor Grace and he did not realize that he was near his destination till he sighted the Atlantic. He praised the navigation of Lieut. Alexander Magyar.

RETURN TO SEATTLE

SEATTLE, July 14.—(AP.)—The monoplane Fort Worth was back in Seattle today being groomed for another attempted nonstop refueling flight from here to Tokio for a $25,000 prize offered by a Japanese newspaper.

Flown back from Fairbanks, Alaska, in 19½ hours, Reg L. Robbins and Harold S. Jones, Texas fliers, set the ship down at Boeing Field last night. They said they fought weather all the way.

Robbins said the second attempted refueling flight to Tokio would be made within two weeks.

W. D. MANSFIELD CANDIDATE FOR COMMISSIONER

In his announcement, Senator Mansfield stated:

"Believing that there is a demand upon the part of the people for some new blood in the County Commissioners' office, I have decided to be a candidate for the Republican nomination for one of the places in this most important office within the gift of the people of Allegheny County.

WIDE REPRESENTATION

"Along with the general demand for new blood there is a demand upon the part of the people of the three third class cities, the 66 boroughs and the 53 townships that they be given representation in the office. The population in the county according to the 1930 census is 1,374,510, of which 764,493 is in the municipalities outside of Pittsburgh.

"In asking for the support of the Republican voters, I stand squarely upon my record as a public official. The office of county commissioner is of such importance that no citizen can afford to cast his vote until he inquires into the candidate's fitness and qualifications.

"In this office it is decided what service you shall get from a large number of employes, what improvements shall be granted you, and how much you will be called upon to pay in county taxes.

DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR

"Every dollar expended for the county should bring a dollar's value in return no matter whether it be money paid for an improvement let by contract or for the salaries of the employes. I have always been in favor of public employes being paid a good wage, but they should be required to give a fair day's labor in return.

"It is needless to call your attention to the fact that taxes have been increasing rapidly and that the burden has become hard to bear.

"I agree with the statement Calvin Coolidge made in his inaugural address in 1925 when he said: 'The collection of any taxes which are not absolutely required, which do not beyond reasonable doubt contribute to the public welfare, is only a species of legalized larceny.'

SEE TAX REDUCTION

"If elected I will oppose any increase in the county tax rate and believe that by applying common sense business methods, a reduction can be made.

"During my service as Senator in the General Assembly of Pennsylvania I have had good opportunity to observe the methods used by the Pennsylvania Department of Highways in its improvement program. Its system of always letting contracts to the lowest responsible bidder has proven to be of excellent value to the taxpayers and if the people place me in the county commissioner office, I will strictly adhere to that principle.

"I appeal for the support of every voter in the county who would like to have the county commissioners' office conducted entirely in the interest of the people."

MALONE MEETS ASPIRANTS

Senator W. D. Mansfield's announcement for County Commissioner is probably the forerunner of announcements this week of the Republican organization slate and the independent candidates seeking the Republican nomination.

State Secretary of Supplies James F. Malone was in town yesterday. He spent the day conferring with aspirants to places on the much-discussed independent ticket that may be placed in the primaries.

Asked how the independents are lining up Malone said:

"You will have to ask Commissioner McGovern. I am committed to P. J. McArdle, Robert Garland and Charles Anderson. But that's as far as I have gone."

'Worst Angler' Sends Trout to Hoover

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ontario, July 14.—(AP.)—An expert fisherman, to whom he once appealed for advice, is to receive a present from Bill Morrison, formerly known in his set as the world's worst fisherman. Bill's luck changed and he caught a 28-pound trout. He sent it to President Hoover.

J. & L. Over-Assessed $976,812 by U. S.

MRS. MANVILLE, JR.

MANVILLES END HIGH-HAT ROW

NEW YORK, July 14.—(AP.)—Thomas Franklin Manville, Jr., heir to millions, and his bride, the former Avonne Taylor, showgirl, are reconciled.

Divorce or separation proceedings had been threatened because he thought she was too high-hat.

Attorneys revealed today that everything was peaceful and Mrs. Manville said she had refused her husband's offer of a settlement. She added:

DETROIT STEEL MAN, GIRL DIE IN RESCUE

Drown at Erie as They Plunge Into Lake After Child Saved by Swimmer

ERIE, Pa., July 14.—(AP.)—Plunging into Lake Erie in an effort to rescue two girls, Harry J. Marks, 35, president of the Federal Steel Company at Detroit, drowned last night. One of the girls also lost her life; the other was rescued.

Marks, his daughter Babbits, 3 years old, and his two nieces, Phyllis Klingensmith, 17, and her sister, Jackie, 10, were in a rowboat at North East. Jackie leaped into the water to swim. The water was over her head, and Phyllis, realizing the little girl was in trouble, plunged in after her. Then Marks jumped into the water.

Witnesses said Phyllis was clinging to Marks when they disappeared. A swimmer rescued Jackie. Bathers pulled the rowboat and the Marks baby to shore.

The bodies of Marks and Miss Klingensmith were recovered a short time later and will be taken to Cleveland, where funeral services will be held Thursday, relatives said today.

Firemen from Erie and Ripley, N. Y., worked for more than four hours in an effort to resuscitate the man and girl.

THIRD WARDERS BACK COYNE

State Senator James J. Coyne will be indorsed as a Republican candidate for county commissioner by the Third Ward Voters League and the Fifth Ward Progressive Club at a banquet Friday night in Pythian Temple, Center avenue and Devilliers street, according to the Rev. Arthur V. B. Hightower, of the committee arranging the dinner.

Invited guests include Mayor Charles H. Kline, District Attorney Andrew T. Park, Councilman Robert J. Alderdice and William J. Soost, Republican city chairman.

Representative Walter E. Tucker, chairman of the dinner, is being assisted by Clarence Webster, president of the Third Ward Voters League, B. L. Halard Wilson, secretary of the Fifth Ward Progressive Club, and Miss Susie Hipkins.

Eckener Cancels Zep Flight to England

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, July 14.—(AP.)—Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the Graf Zeppelin, said today he had called off his plan for a flight to England on Thursday because of the grave economic situation in Germany.

He was to have made the flight to Hanworth Airdrome from which he intended to make a 24-hour sightseeing flight over England. It would have been the first visit by a Zeppelin to England since the World War.

SEATTLE VOTES MAYOR OUT IN POWER ROW

Department Head's Removal Brings Executive's Recall By Big Ballot Majority

SEATTLE, July 14.—(AP.)—Seattle's "business man mayor," Frank Edwards, was voted out of office by a decisive majority in a recall election here yesterday.

Appearing as a "dark horse" in 1928, Edwards was chosen to succeed Mrs. Bertha K. Landes. The recall election, which Edwards and his supporters strenuously tried to forestall, carrying the fight to two high courts, grew out of incompetency charges made against the mayor after he had dismissed J. D. Ross as head of the city light department.

Unofficial returns showed 35,637 for the recall and 21,836 against. Under the law, the City Council must choose a successor to Edwards within 20 days.

RETURNS TO FIGHT MAYOR

With President Robert Harlin of the city council in charge of the city's affairs pending selection of Edwards' successor by the council, the reinstatement of Ross and reorganization of the Board of Public Works were expected.

Ross, who since his dismissal in March has served as a consultant for New York state in the projected St. Lawrence River power development, returned here 10 days ago to work actively for the retirement of the mayor. Ross had been with the City Light, publicly-owned utility, more than a quarter of a century.

SECOND RECALLED

Edwards is the second of the city's mayors to be retired by the recall. Hiram (Hi) Gill was recalled in 1911, although subsequently re-elected to two terms.

The charges in the present case declared:

"First, that Mayor Edwards gave false reasons for dismissing Mr. Ross, knowing them to be false; second, that he appointed George B. Avery superintendent of public utilities in charge of the municipal street railway system, knowing Mr. Avery to be incompetent to manage the railway."

Lindbergh Orders Gas Sent to Alaska

SAN FRANCISCO, July 14.—(INS.)—Gasoline is being shipped from Nome to Point Barrow, Alaska, by order of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, Standard Oil Company officials disclosed today.

This was taken to indicate that Lindbergh and his wife may soon start on their projected flight to the Orient. Lindbergh ordered 200 gallons to be stored at Point Barrow.

One Killed, One Hurt In Ohio Plant Blast

CAPONE QUITS DYERS' WAR

CHICAGO, July 14.—(AP.)—The Herald and Examiner said today that the impending overthrow of Al Capone's underworld supremacy as a result of the federal government's prosecution was apparent in his failure to usurp control of the Chicago Cleaners' and Dyers' Institute.

The gang chief is reputed to have begun a campaign to force his way into control last spring, but encountered strenuous opposition from the cleaners.

Dr. Benjamin M. Squires, chairman of the institute, said yesterday that Capone, since his convictions of income tax fraud and liquor law violation, has abandoned efforts to take over the cleaners.

DEMPSEY READY TO FILE SUIT

SAN FANCISCO, July 14.—(INS.)—Now that this business of promoting prize fights is over for a few weeks, Jack Dempsey finds time to consider filing his divorce suit against his wife, Estelle Taylor, the movie actress, the former heavyweight champion of the world said today in a telephone conversation.

The action will be filed within a week or two, he declared, adding:

Injured Girl Diver Hovers Near Death

At the Eiselberg clinic, where she was taken, it was said it would be several days before a definite change for better or for worse might be expected. Her spine was both broken and dislocated, it was said, and the probability is that even if she recovers she will remain a cripple for life.

8 SOVIET ARMY FLIERS KILLED

MOSCOW, July 14.—(AP.)—Eight Russian army officers were killed yesterday in an airplane accident near Alabino, 30 miles west of Moscow.

ATLANTA, July 14.—(AP.)—Stricken while in a conference with two of his colleagues here, Representative Charles G. Edwards, of Savannah, First Georgia District, died yesterday at the age of 73.

His passing restored the Republican majority in the next House of Representatives to two.

VETS' BEVERAGE BOUGHT HERE

One million and eighty thousand bottles of ginger ale made in the Pittsburgh district will be consumed by former soldiers in 55 United States Veterans' hospitals in the next 12 months.

The Higrade Products Company of Braddock, has been awarded the contract by the government for supplying ginger ale for one year beginning July 1, at their bid of $111,000, in competition with 23 other firms according to word from Washington. The first shipment was made yesterday.

Ginger ale is used medicinally after operations as well as a beverage, a representative of the company said.

Forest Fires Sweep Montana and Idaho

SPOKANE, Wash., July 14.—(AP.)—Forest fires in Montana and Idaho defied the efforts of 1,500 to bring them under control today. A conflagration in the Clearwater forest of North Idaho had charred almost 12,000 acres.

In the Challis forest of Central Idaho fires had swept over 2,500 acres, aided by dry weather and high mountain temperatures.

48-Hour Non-Stop Sermon Is Goal Of Minister

COTTON VALLEY, La., July 14.—(AP.)—Sustained by raw eggs, coffee and chocolate bars, The Rev. E. A. Sandifer strove today for a record of 48 hours of continuous preaching.

He started at 11 a. m. Sunday morning and, after having broken the mere 16-hour marathon record held by a Los Angeles minister, announced he was ready to quit at 11 a. m. today. His voice became a hit hoarse last night after he had spent several hours answering the query, 'What's Wrong With the Church?' He followed that by reading from the Book of Ephesians.

All In A Day

By Mark Hellinger

NEW YORK, July 14.

THEY HAD been married about two years and you'd have to search a long time before you found a happier couple. He was a handsome guy and she was a pretty girl. Both of them were in show business, and both were continually promising each other that they would hit the top together. With the possible exception of the fact that they were still happy after two years of a Broadway marriage, there wasn't anything particularly new about the situation.

Last winter, while the boy was playing in a musical comedy and his wife was doing extremely well in legitimate play, the road seemed pretty clear. It was the boy's idea to save as much money as they could, to buy that little farm they had in mind and to keep improving it as time rolled along.

"You see, honey," he said, "if we get that little place of our own, that'll be ours for always. We'll have our car and we'll drive to our theaters every night. That will go on, of course, until I get a real break and you won't have to work any more.

Doesn't it sound great to you, sweetheart? We're working and living for each other. And, in our little place away from New York there isn't a chance that we'll make too many Broadway contacts that might hurt us. Don't you think I'm right?"

The girl was just as enthusiastic as the boy. She, too, was very sensible about it.

"It's grand, dearest," she agreed. "I haven't any more desire than you to mix up with too many Broadway playmates. We've had two years of perfect happiness and we're going to have a great many more, I hope.

"Let's talk more about the farm. About prices and locations, I mean. And how soon do you think we'll be able to take it?"

So the boy got out the pencil and paper once again. They had been doing the same thing for months now—and their conversation was almost a force of habit.

"Well, sweetheart," he murmured, "you're making this much and I'm making this much. I think my show will run longer than yours—and that means a big slice of the income will be chopped until your next part comes along.

"We have, however, this much in the bank right now. We won't need a great deal more to make the initial payment on that farm. I think that maybe in a couple of weeks we'll be pretty well set."

And so they would keep talking. For hour after hour after hour . . .

One evening the wife had big news. Yet is was sad news in a way. She had been offered one of those picture contracts on the coast. But there was more to it than the average thing. A certain female whom the girl resembled had been carrying on a great deal of late in Hollywood. And the whisperings were that she was shortly to be let out—and that this little actress from New York was to be groomed for her position.

The husband heard the news with mingled feelings. He was proud that his wife had received this grand break — but he was wise enough to see trouble ahead. He knew that, with her a star in Hollywood and him a minor musical comedy player in New York, there wasn't much chance that things would ever be the same again. But he was man enough not to say it.

"Gee, honey," he cried, "that sure is swell news. Of course you're going to take it. When do you have to leave?"

The girl shook her head. She threw her arms around him.

"I don't want to go darling," she sobbed. "Honestly I don't. What's going to happen to you—and to our plans — and to our farm? If I have to lose all those things, I'd rather not go at all."

He swallowed hard. He was being very brave. And, as is usual in most cases of bravery, very foolish.

"You mustn't talk that way," he advised. "This is your great chance and you're going to nab it. You mustn't even think of anything else.

"You sign that contract the first thing tomorrow. And we're going to be just as happy as we ever were."

The girl wept and moaned and sobbed—but she signed the contract the next day. And I can assure you, my cynical friends, that she never had the slightest intention of doing anything else but that . . .

That getaway at the railroad station was a thing of beauty. Just before the train pulled out for the West the girl was on the verge of hysterics. She pulled her hair. She clutched at her husband and carried on as though they were both being hauled off to different gallows. She gave such a performance as hasn't been seen around a railroad terminal in many a day.

"I'm not going," she shrieked. "I'm not going, I say. I don't want any picture contracts. I only want my sweetheart. It's not too late for me to change my mind. I'm not going. Oh, my darling."

The husband wasn't so far from the old teardrops himself. But he was doing his best to keep that fact from his wife.

"Stop it, dearest," he commanded. "Please. Please—for my sake. Don't feel so badly. Please. Look, honey, I'll call you just as soon as you get there. I'll phone you every night. I'll wire all the time.

"We won't be apart long, darling. I'll be out there just as soon as I can get away from New York. Oh, please, honey. Please stop."

You might not be able to guess the identity of the girl and the boy—but you surely know exactly what happened. I told you in the very beginning it wasn't a new situation. The girl sued for a divorce a short time later.

But how short a time do you think? Exactly six days after the train pulled out! . . .

BOND ACTRESS IN 'RACKET'

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., July 14.—(INS.)—Jacqueline La Palametieur, 23-year-old blonde Chicago actress, was freed today under $500 cash bond pending her court appearance Friday on fraud charges in connection with the "punchboard racket" here.

Her companion, John McMahon, who gave his address as Philadelphia, Pa., was returned to the county jail when he was unable to furnish a similar bond.

Following sale of punchboards to merchants, according to police, the couple would appear and play heavily, winning all of the large prizes. Police meanwhile have launched a drive to clear the city of punchboards.

Mexican Consul's Judge Jails Man, Frees Monkey

CHICAGO, July 14.—(AP.)—Too much monkey business got Clarence Warren, 33, who gave his address as Dayton, O., a five-day jail sentence today.

Several store owners complained that the pet monkey he carried on his shoulders had thieving habits. Warren pleaded he wasn't to blame.

Just the same, Warren drew the penalty and the monkey got five days' probation in care of a police janitor.

The case was before Judge Thomas S. Green, who jumped into international prominence last week by sentencing Adolfo Domineguez, acting Mexican consul, to jail.

EX-NAVAL ACE URGES FASTER U.S. PLANES

Williams, Seeking Air Race Entrants, Fears Europe Will Outstrip America

By KENNETH CLARK

ROME, July 14.—Speed!

That's what America needs to round out its aviation development and bring the United States up to par with Europe in the air.

This is the studied opinion of Lieut. Al Williams, former crack American Navy flier, who is making an inspection tour of Europe's air centers.

Not only was Williams a speed champion, but he was one of the Navy's greatest stunt fliers. He resigned from the service more than a year ago and is now European director for the national air races in Cleveland August 29 to September 7.

While in Europe he has arranged for seven countries, Germany, England, Italy, France, Austria, Poland and Czechoslovakia, to send representatives to the races. Spain may participate.

WANTS SCHNEIDER VICTORY

One of Williams' ambitions is to win the Schneider Cup race, the blue ribbon of international seaplane competition. While he cannot enter this year, he may try to develop a machine which will enable him to compete under American colors two years hence.

Unless speed is stressed, Williams said, aviation cannot reach its full measure of development in the United States. He declared:

"Aviation means speed. If there were no possibility of speed in the air it would be only fair to admit it, and consider aviation merely as a hobby instead of a powerful agent of commerce and a most formidable aid to national defense."

AIM AT 400-MILE MARK

Whereas American planes are developing around 200 miles an hour, European air experts, Williams said, are already designing planes capable of a speed twice as fast.

And Europe, Williams added, is never going to be satisfied when the 400-mile mark is reached, for Europe today is emphasizing the necessity for speed.

America must follow suit, he warned, or be outstripped by Europe in the air.

GRANT HEARING ON PARK MUSIC

Charging that politics was an important factor in the award of the city music contracts for summer park concerts, a petition was filed in City Council protesting the action of Mayor Charles H. Kline employing the Danny Nirella and Pasetti bands.

A hearing on the charges will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m., President John S. Herron announced.

The contract awards were made by the Mayor after Public Works Director Edward G. Lang had recommended that the contract be given the 10 bands submitting bids as an unemployment relief measure. The Mayor's explanation was that the awards were made on the recommendation of the city's music committee.

In the petition, submitted by five of the unsuccessful bidders, it is alleged that Oliver Fulton, a member of the committee and a member of the Pasetti band, and Charles Marshall, a Nirella bandsman, and a relative of Benjamin Marshall, assistant superintendent of police and a city employe, in effect, employed themselves. Another member of the Pasetti organization is said to be a county caddiemaster at South Park golf links.

San Salvador Revolt Crushed in Battle

COLON, Panama, July 14.—(INS.)—Two persons were killed and many injured in an attempted revolutionary coup d'etat in San Salvador early today, it was reported in a radio dispatch from Managua, Nicaragua, this afternoon.

Sharp street fighting followed an attack by the revolutionaries on police headquarters and the local jail. Police and government troops dispersed the rioters and martial law was declared, the reports said.

HAPPY IDEA -:- Village Postmistress To Be Glorified -:- AMUSEMENTS -:- Theater Events; Critics See New Attractions

Edna May Oliver to Be Belle Of Town in Romance Of Rural Life

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, July 14.

You can criticize the producers as much as you like, but occasionally they do hit upon a happy idea.

For instance, R-K-O's plan to star Edna May Oliver in "the Postmistress." The angular actress, who scored such a hit in "Cimarron," fits right into my idea of the rural scene. And as Louis Sarecky outlines the story, it should be one of the bright spots of the season.

Edna May, the village postmistress, inherits $10,000 and finds herself the belle of the town. Joseph Cawthorne, Roscoe Ates and Hugh Herbert play the three rivals for her favor.

Edna May Oliver

Suddenly arrives in their midst the boy from the city—to be played by hand-kisser Ivan Lebedeff. Forthwith, the rural swains all try to make continental love.

This set-up, as I look at it, promises plenty of comedy. Mr. Sarecky, an associate producer, is to be complimented on his idea. And Bill Seiter needn't worry about the direction. It should be a natural.

FATHER-LOVE

Tom Keen watched storm-clouds gather on the horizon that swam in the haze of 120 in the shade. He turned to an old inhabitant.

"Yas," drawled the old-timer. "I'm not thinking so much of myself. It's my boys. You know I've seen rain."

LATEST GOSSIP

Joan Crawford's brother, Hal le Seur, is working as an extra in "Consolation Marriage" at R-K-O . . . Hollywood is giving Al Jolson the glad-hand. But Al sticks mainly to his golf. Ruby Keeler will be alone in a couple of weeks, he says. Rowland Brown, author of "The Doorway to Hell," is confiding to his friends that he's $29,000 richer for his switch from Fox to Universal . . . It seldom pays Pola Negri to talk too soon in Hollywood . . . Artist Henry Clive has completed a full-length portrait of Ann Harding. It will be used in her picture and then will hang in the Bannister home on the hill-top . . . It's hard to make people believe pictures are a tough racket when Pola Negri confesses to owning two dozen suits of lounging pajamas . . . Pathe got a great play recently from the owners of fancy poultry. The word got around that the studio was looking for a new rooster to crow at the beginning of its pictures. Immediately Culver City became a mecca. A gentleman from our neighboring republic insisted his Mexican fowl should be used in Spanish versions. And they do say another was embarrassed by having his rooster lay an egg while he was trying to see someone in authority. But I can't believe that.

Consider your Adam's Apple!!*

Don't Rasp Your Throat With Harsh Irritants

"Reach for a LUCKY instead"

Touch your Adam's Apple with your finger. You are actually touching your larynx—this is your voice box—it contains your vocal chords. When you consider your Adam's Apple, you are considering your throat—your vocal chords.

"It is part of my business to notice the types of tobacco bought by various concerns. In all instances, The American Tobacco Company's buyers select that rich, mellow type of tobacco that the farmer justly calls 'The Cream of the Crop' for their brand of LUCKY STRIKE."

These are the very words of an experienced tobacco buyer on the Southern market.

LUCKY STRIKE not only promises but gives you the very finest of each season's tobacco crop. We pay the highest prices to be sure of getting the Cream of the Crop. And then to be sure that you get the greatest enjoyment, we "TOAST" these fine tobaccos—thereby expelling certain harsh irritants present in all raw tobaccos. These expelled irritants we sell to manufacturers of chemical compounds. LUCKIES are always kind to your throat. Be careful in your choice of cigarettes.

Villainy Rife In Play at Montrose

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

If you've got a critical taste in the matter of villainy, you will find it satisfied in the good old standard variety of dastardy that sneaks, with sidelong—sidelong mind you, actually sidelong—glances through "In Old Kentucky," this week's drammer on Capt. Menke's showboat, Golden Rod, at Montrose.

And if the oblique eye is not sufficient to intrigue your interest, consider, please the lowering look, the ominous scowl in which the brow is corrugated into such a veritable menace that the least one expects is the darting of a forked tongue the next moment. Then, too, there is the stroking of the black mustache.

THE MARK OF VILLAINY

This, my masters, is the mark of a deep-dyed villain, if there be any certain mark, and we surely believe there is, placed there by Old Nick, himself.

We can commend, too, the snarl of this fellow—yes, fellow, for we shall grant him no more polite term than that, for gentleman he certainly is not, even as villains go. And, besides these, there is his posture, an attitude that immediately distinguishes him as a party to be loathed with the deepest, most vehement loathing one is capable of.

LET VILLAINS VILL

Away with these modern spineless, characterless "menaces" of the modern play! Let us have our villains run true to form and be throughly detestable, as in "In Old Kentucky," and not the suave, good-fellow type that we see too often in highbrow stage offerings. Advice to villains, all—keep hissable.

Besides this paragon of a villain "In Old Kentucky" there is, of course, a hero, and a heroine, who rides a hoss to victory and saves the day for the hero, and an uncouth but honest-at-heart mountaineer, who finally lets daylight through that villain, and a Kentucky kunnel, and a stage darkie, and an old maid, and, finally, the sort of a girl you like to hate, who would, of course, be the daughter of the villain.

Next week "Lady Audley's Secret."

And There's Goldie in Warner

By CLARENCE E. GRUNDISH

"Goldie" opened yesterday as the new screen feature in the Warner. It is a tarnished affair.

It is a rather mixed-up exhibition. If our censors haven't cut it up into its present state, then Hollywood must have had a nightmare.

Man Seeking Bride And Farm Cook Asks Police Aid

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., July 14.—S. W. Trushel, Route 1, Unionport, has asked police to get him a wife, aged between 35 and 45, and able to work. He wants to get married soon so that his bride can cook for the harvesters on his farm.

Comedy Film In Enright

"Virtuous Husband," with a cast including Elliott Nugent, Betty Compson, Tully Marshall and Jean Arthur, is the current photoplay in the Enright, where it will continue today and tomorrow. This comedy, based on the play, "Apron Strings," concerns a young man who, on every turning point in his life, opens one of a series of letters left by his mother on her death, and is guided by it. It leads to difficulties after his marriage.

Body of Canoeist Taken from River

HARRISBURG, July 14.—(AP.)—Two employes of the city Park Department yesterday recovered the body of John Smell, Jr., of Hibbs, who drowned Sunday in the Susquehanna River. The body was found a few feet from the place where Smell leaped from a canoe in the belief that the water was shallow.

Eruptions Caused Considerable Pain. Healed by Cuticura.

"Several red, sore eruptions broke out on the right side of my face, and caused considerable pain and annoyance. They bothered me about three months, and I tried several different salves without any relief.

"My uncle suggested that I send for free samples of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I did so and after using same I noticed immediate relief. I purchased more and after using three cakes of Cuticura Soap and three boxes of Cuticura Ointment the eruptions vanished. I was completely healed." (Signed) James R. Brooks, 2630 Coral St., Philadelphia, Pa., March 16, 1931.

MT. CARMEL, Pa., July 14.—(AP.)—Mrs. Veronica Chrostoski, 36, was shot and fatally wounded by her husband, police reported. The husband, Bolich Chrostoski, a farmer, fled to the mountains, and a posse was organzed to search for him. The woman died in a few minutes.

Mrs. Chrostoski was the mother of Frankie Hauser, known in the anthracite region as a lightweight boxer.

MANY substitutes look like Kotex. But few offer anything like the strict, hygienic purity of Kotex . . . the pad that's bought by hospitals in enormous quantities.

This health protection should be your first concern in selecting a sanitary pad. You have it in Kotex. But how about those unknown substitutes, of whose makers you know nothing? How are they made? Where? Would hospitals sanction them? Would you, if you knew their origin?

RENALDO WINS FIGHT ON EXILE

WASHINGTON, July 14.—(AP.)—Duncan Renaldo, film actor who rose to stardom in "Trader Horn," has won the right to stay in the United States unless the Labor Department can find conclusive proof he is an alien.

A warrant of arrest issued some time ago for him has been quashed, officials said, because the government could not prove its original charge that he was a Rumanian.

The film star, officials said, contended he was born an American in Camden, N. J., and taken to Rumania when a child. He said he came to the United States in 1923 as a seaman, leaving in 1929 on an American passport to Africa to make "Trader Horn."

Following the challenging of his citizenship, an inquiry in Rumania disclosed a birth certificate for a man of similar history but a different name.

DR. KING HURT BY OWN AUTO

LACONIA, N. H., July 14.—(AP.)—Dr. Clyde L. King, secretary of revenue in Pennsylvania, was reported resting comfortably in a hospital here today after having his leg broken while putting a car in a garage at his summer home in Gilford, N. H., last Thursday. Dr. King's leg was in a cast.

Dr. King had ridden to the garage and got out to open the door when the fender of the car struck him.

Married June 27 in Llano, Tex., Mrs. King's former home, Dr. and Mrs. King were spending their honeymoon at Gilford.

Before taking the post in Gov. Gifford Pinchot's cabinet, Dr. King was on the teaching staff at the University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia. He was secretary of the commonwealth during Gov. Pinchot's first term from 1922 to 1926.

PANTAGES FREE IN GIRL CASE

SAN DIEGO, Cal., July 14.—(AP.)—Alexander Pantages, theater magnate, walked out of Superior Judge L. N. Turrentine's court yesterday smiling happily and free from the "girl market" charges.

District Attorney Tom Whelan made the motion which resulted in the dismissal of the conspiracy and morals complaints against the multi-millionaire and three co-defendants. The prosecutor said he did not believe conviction possible.

Pantages was accused with Jesse H. Shreve, San Diego, and Olive Clarke Day and William Jobelmann, alleged operators of a Hollywood "girl market" of bringing Lydia Nitto, a minor, to a hotel party here.

They were tried once, but the jurors were deadlocked 9 to 3, the majority favoring acquittal.

Periscope Hat to Be Bandit Safeguard

CHICAGO, July 14.—(AP.)—The periscope hat seems to be on its way here.

Sponsors of the second International Patent Exposition to be held in Chicago starting September 14, said that among the devices to be shown was a periscope designed to fit a man's hat, enabling him to see a bandit, should he sneak up behind him.

Autoists Sold Own Gas in New Racket

CHICAGO, July 14.—(AP.)—Police accused Girard Marzano of siphoning gasoline out of parked cars, waiting until the owners found they were stalled and then selling them back their own gasoline. The plan worked until E. R. Walker walked out of a printing plant and caught him. Then Judge Borelli sentenced the merchant to 10 days in jail.

PENN, RESERVE ANNEX VOIDED

Annexation to Pittsburgh of two portions of Penn Township and a portion of Reserve Township has been voided by three opinions handed down in Quarter Sessions Court by Judge George V. Moore, because the act under which the proceedings were brought was repealed by the last Legislature. The annexation movements will have to be instituted again under a new act.

Annexation had been sought under the act which required three-fifths of the taxables signing a petition, followed by the passage of an ordinance by the city declaring the annexation. After this had been done, exceptions were filed, and the hearing delayed the final date of the annexation until after the Legislature had repealed the act.

LEGGE PREDICTS FARM BOOM

CHICAGO, July 14.—(AP.)—Alexander Legge, former chairman of the Federal Farm Board, predicted a bright future for the American farmer in a radio broadcast today. He said:

"Times are hard enough for the agricultural producer right now, but on the whole he is working himself through this period of depression with less suffering than many other classes, and this difference is largely due to the fact that the farmer did not participate in the so-called boom times of 1925 to 1929 in which so many other industries plunged into a wild orgy of inflation and speculation from which they have had a sad awakening."

Legge said that the farmer has a definite prospect of better times ahead.

WRITERS' DOG FRIEND DIES

NEW HAVEN, Conn., July 14.—(AP.)—Rufus II, thoroughbred Irish setter owned by Prof. William Lyon Phelps, of Yale, whose golf etiquet was always irreproachable and who met and won the affection of many literary celebrities, has taken his last vacation.

Rufus had associated with such celebrities as John Galsworthy, Hugh Walpole, G. K. Chesterton and Joseph Conrad. Because of his uniformly good behavior on the links he was the only dog permitted on the golf course at Huron City, N. Y., where Prof. Phelps maintained a summer home.

Prof. Phelps once wrote of Rufus:

"His favorite flower was the dogrose. In the spring he liked the dogwood because of the bark. His books were all dog-eared, and, while he read some poetry, he loved even more to write it, having composed much doggerel.

"He never got excited, but when I missed a putt he would sometimes utter 'Doggone it.'"

WE NOW PRESENT

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Radio Editor

PAUL REVERE'S RIDE on WCAE at 9 o'clock and Ogden Mills' discussion of the "Hoover Moratorium" on WJAS at 10:15 are exceptional offerings on the radio tonight . . . Have you listened to the Virtuosos on WCAE at 8:30? . . . Very fine symphony directed by Alfred Wallenstein, the talented 'cellist . . . "The Old Rugged Cross," "Tell Me the Story of Jesus" and "Let the Lower Lights Be Burning," are among the favorites on Sacred Songs, KDKA at 7:30 . . . The sponsor of Sacred Songs has added another room to her downtown office fo. the distribution of inspiring pamphlets free for the asking . . . simply address your letter to Sacred Songs, care of KDKA . . . The Bon Bons on WJAS at 8:30 are pretty sweet . . . And Ramona of the South Seas entrances KQV listeners again with her strange rumba music at 10.

Darrell V. Martin

When Clyde Dengler went to Philadelphia to teach music at the high school where pretty, wide-eyed Polly Waters was a student, Cupid hurled a hefty javelin. Result was that everywhere that Polly went, Clyde was sure to go. So when Polly went radio, Clyde was on her doorstep ready to help. This couldn't go on much longer, so they married. They're featured on CBS-WJAS every Tuesday night at 9:30.

* * *

We bow our heads in shame as we confess that last night was the first time we have heard "Col. Stoopnagle and Budd," the Gloom Chasers on CBS. Now, there's a team that is a team. Give them time and "Shultz is dead" will be a presidential war cry. Their program is nutty—anything goes. Impersonations of famous people are their forte . . . and they're quite Pagliacci.

* * *

Sponsors of Amos 'n' Andy have a comer in "The Goldbergs" . . . James Waters, who plays "Jake," was the big shot in "Abie's Irish Rose."

* * *

Fred Waring's Pennsylvanians (due at the Penn Friday) are booked to do a 26-week red network broadcast, starting September 15, when they succeed Ben Bernie at The Dells in Chicago. . . . an automobile merchant is the sponsor.

* * *

Question a Day:

Why doesn't NBC have Floyd Gibbons and Graham McNamee on more sport events? They make a good team.—Bill K., Dormont.

Answer—The boys have not been on speaking terms for maybe a year.

* * *

Percy Boyd reports that A. Stein and C. A. Ford, artists on Sacred Songs tonight, were among the first to receive auditions at KDKA in November, 1920 . . .

* * *

Studio Lights

Once again Jessica Dragonette is reported engaged . . . and the lucky man is said to be from Washington . . .

Frank Weis presents his Red Arrow Quartet on WWVA, Wheeling, W. Va., this Friday night at 8:30, EDST . . . Dad Pickard's hill billy music is heralded for a revival on NBC-KDKA Thursday, July 23 . . .

There are seven organists in the Cyril Guthorel (WWSW) family . . .

J. O. Hooley, manager of an East Liberty cinema house, heard the Schmeling-Stribling fight description on short wave via Germany while on a fishing trip in Montreal, Canada . . .

Dave Rubinoff writes that he has asked Ruth Etting to return as his guest on Sunday, July 26, via WCAE . . .

Rudy Vallee's popularity in the New York Daily Mirror Radio Roll has dropped off 3,000 votes a day since his marriage . . . and guess who's leading the announcers . . . none other than A. L. Alexander, of WMCA, the comforting, friendly voice you hear on Tom Noonan's Rescue Society Service via KQV . . .

What a blow, girls, what a blow! Billy Yates, curly-headed banjoist in Don Bestor's outfit, has married Mildred Faller, known on the stage as Dolores Dolle . . . and it began in Pittsburgh! . . . first Rudy Vallee, then Billy . . . o me . . . o my!

Those "in the know" predict that David Ross or Frank Knight will receive this year's Diction Medal.

We remember when Maj. Bowe's family was the only big program on a network of six stations, including WCAE . . . Friday the Major celebrates his sixth anniversary on the air . . . .

When Guy Lombardo's train passed through Oil City on a Sunday evening tour not long ago, Guy organized his band in the baggage room ahead and asked passengers to join in a dance . . . . An officer of the law, with more authority than good manners, threatened to arrest Guy for violating the Pennsylvania blue laws . . . . but Guy laughed last by inviting the dancers to stay for a concert of salon selections in the best classic style . . . . he's a great "Guy," this Lombardo fellow!

There was much consternation in CBS studios recently when Kate Smith swallowed a cough drop in the middle of one of her songs . . . the announcer came to the rescue with a few slaps on the back, but it didn't stop the telephone ringing to know what was wrong . . . had Miss Smith been shot?

Now a Gypsy rondo from Budapest, Hungary . . . WCAE Wednesday afternoon . . . and Sunday, August 2, a rebroadcast from Paris with direct descendants of Lafayette, Rochambeau and Degrasse before the microphone. . . .

Raymond Knight's Cuckoo sketch has taken wings . . . starting Saturday, July 25, it goes on the New York stage directed by Alexander Leftwich, the man who produced "Fine and Dandy." . . .

The Loudspeaker

By LOUIS REID

NEW YORK, July 14.—Col. Amos W. W. Woodcock, chief prohibition constable, gained the front parlors and the front pages with a radio talk. It's the first national airing of prohibition since California fruit growers began delivering their juices to the back door.

Broadcasters have no taste for prohibition talks. Or, for that matter, anti-prohibition talks . . . Yet the meeting of wine-tasters of three continents in London last week would have been a novel earful for the reposite . . . And novelty is what the radio men are after . . . Foreign novelties on the air are few and far between . . . Trans-Atlantic broadcasting is still chiefly confined to premiers and potentates.

* * *

It seems that the racketeer has been glorified in song after all, with words by Gene Buck and music by none other than Hugo Riesenfeld. . . . The number, called "The Parade of the Racketeers," was written for the "Follies," but had to be taken out because it conflicted with another song, and also because there was no principal in the show to sing the solo . . . . Wonder if song-and-dance men will gag at identifying themselves on the stage as racketeers as they once did at identifying themselves as gigolos? . . . A long-cherished ambition of ours, if you care to know, is to tickle an xylophone. . . . The sweetness-and-light of Franz Lehar is attracting more of the broadcasters. Of all contemporary music masters he best evokes the spirit of romance . . . To hear the "Merry Widow Waltz" is like coming upon a long-forgotten love letter.

* * *

Only those sketches which give off an authentic air hold their public through the seasons. A daily place in the radio is now reserved for "The Rise of the Goldbergs" . . . We long ago abandoned hope of ever hearing a Southerner sing a mammy song . . . Now it's the big symphony orchestras that are airing the "Blue Danube" waltz. Most sparkling of all waltzes. It cures depressions when all other music fails . . . Of all musicians on the air waves no one seems to have caught the spirit of the deep South as expertly as Willard Robison. He conjures up pictures of weather-beaten cabins and cane brakes . . . "The Rhapsody in Blue," once the meat course of Whiteman's jazz banquet in Aeolian Hall, is now the salt-and-pepper of all his radio programs.

Federation Head Calls on President to Act in Labor Crisis; Fears for Winter

NEW YORK, July 14.—(AP.)—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, urged President Hoover to call an industrial conference to maintain the present wage scale in an address today at the convention of the Longshoremen's Association.

After mentioning what he called "serious social unrest" in coal mining regions and in textile districts of the South, he said:

"It is not good for a republic when workers are clashing with the police. We are now facing a third winter of unemployment. Our nation has never been put to that test before.

"We were an agricultural nation. We are an industrial nation now. What shall we do about it? Some think reduction of wages is what is needed. Well, the American Federation of Labor has challenged that sort of economic philosophy. Is there any economic reason why the millions of working men in America should take another reduction in their earnings? Have we not suffered enough? Shall we cut the wages of those few of us left who have work?

"This subject is not debatable with the American Federation of Labor. Our minds are not even open to it."

Union Chiefs Seek Remedy As Mine Parley Resumes

Representatives from Western Pennsylvania, Eastern Ohio and Northern West Virginia coal fields will attend the first unit meting of 1931 of the National Miners' Union in the Irene Kaufmann Settlement tomorrow.

Attending the meeting will be Mauritz Hallgren, associate editor of The Nation, and William L. Nunn, of the New York University, and Colston E. Warne, of Amherst.

They visited the strike area yesterday and issued a statement declaring the "problem of relief is most acute."

Telegraphic demands were sent to Gov. Pinchot last night by the Pennsylvania-Ohio striking miners' relief committee for tents to shelter strikers made homeless by evictions.

A mass-meeting of miners in the Washington district is to be held in Penowa, at the baseball field, late today, when the United Mine Workers of America will attempt to arrange a "back-to-work" agreement for that section.

CHILD HOUSING DELAY LAID TO PINCHOT

Governor Fully Informed Of Purpose of Measure, Judge Macfarlane Declares

The measure providing for a board of managers for the Juvenile Detention Home, recently vetoed by Gov. Pinchot, was designed merely to correct an unconstitutional law of 1901, under which the existing board was appointed, and was not a ripper bill, President Judge James R. Macfarlane, of Common Pleas Court declared in a statement issued today.

Judge Macfarlane's statement reads:

"The people of the county have a right to know the reason for the delay in changing the inadequate and unfit quarters for boys and girls detained for hearing in the Juvenile Court. More than five years ago the county commissioners requested the judges of the Court of Common Pleas to consider the appointment of a board of Managers for the Juvenile Detention House and the judges made a study of the law and were of opinion that the act of 1901 (P. L. 601) which provided for the appointment of a board of managers in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Scranton was unconstitutional as it sets up a commission with uncontrolled power of expenditures.

"Gov. Pinchot's veto was made with full information in writing, sent by me. He was informed that the long delay was due to the existence of the Act of 1901, that the bill was not a ripper bill, for it was the intention to reappoint the board, and the necessity for the reapeal of the Act of 1901 as to Allegheny County was emphasized and the desirability of the present act providing for a board of managers.

"I do not know what influences were brought to bear but the Governor is responsible for the present unhappy condition of this matter."

FOUR FACE QUIZ IN ATTACK

Four men, alleged members of a gang which, police say, terrorized motorists in the Springdale district, were held today by police for questioning in connection with the beating and robbing of John Adams, 50, of Springdale Township early yesterday, and for participation in nearly two score holdups throughout the valley in the last several months, according to Springdale police.

The men, arrested in a mining camp in Renton, late yesterday, gave their names as Austin B. Gross, 22, and his brother, Joseph, 20; George A. Todd, 23, and Brady Grove, 32. Police say all are from West Virginia. They will be questioned in connection with the robbery of the gasoline station of Isadore Frank in Cheswick.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Breakfast in Santa Monica and dinner in Claremore while rushing home to help welcome Post and Gatty who are going to visit our metropolis today. I thought if they could fly clear around the world and come to Claremore I ought to make this hop. Besides I am just anxious to see those guys. Flew at 170 miles an hour in one of these fast low wing Lockheeds. It was my first trip in one where they bundle the wheels up inside the wings. They say they sometimes forget to put 'em down. Believe me, Pilot Lee was reminded of it when we landed. The wheels are under the wings and the passenger can't see if they are down. I intended to do a little wing walking and go out and see for myself. Yours, WILL.

NEW VIOLENCE BREAKS OUT IN STRIKE

Crowd Bombards Cab in East Liberty; Passengers Escape in One Attack

A new outbreak of violence in the taxicab strike came early today and last night when two taxicabs were stolen, one being wrecked and set afire, and several others were attacked by crowds which threw stones and bottles. A driver was beaten and left in the street.

A Green cab, stolen in Oakland and driven out the KDKA boulevard near Etna, was pushed down an embankment into Pine Creek and set on fire.

Two men who called for a cab on North Dithridge street, beat J. Marontonek, of 508 Arch street, the driver, and drove away in the cab, leaving the driver bleeding in the street.

John Strelec, of 546 Seventh avenue, Homestead, a Yellow Cab driver, was struck on the right shoulder by a milk bottle hurled by one of two men who attacked his cab at South Eighteenth and Pius streets. Two men, passengers in the cab, escaped unhurt.

At Penn and Center avenues a cab was stoned by a crowd. A few minutes later a milk bottle was thrown at the driver of a cab near the East Liberty station of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Germany Asking Loans of Friends And Has No Foes

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

Twelve years ago they were trying to Hamburger her without onions.

The way it stands now is that Berlin will borrow from any friend and hasn't an enemy in the world.

The Hoovertorium seems to have arrived too late to be of practical use. We meant well. But so did the old lady who sent flowers to the other old lady who was very sick with hay fever.

We are still suffering from the most peculiar war ever fought. Nobody started it, everybody got into it and nobody can get out of it.

And bankers are realizing that the debt holiday may be a holiday but it's no picnic.

BOND REFUSED IN STRIKE RIOT

Thomas Myerscough, radical mine strike organizer held for the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter as a result of the rioting at a Wildwood mine June 22, appeared in the district attorney's office today to post bond.

The bond was rejected when it was found that the property of Marcus Koratay, at 50 Prospect street, was only assessed for $2,650. An assessed value of double the amount of the bond—$2,500 in Myerscough's case—is required.

Myerscough, already under $10,000 bond on charges of rioting and inciting to riot in the Wildwood disorder, remained in the district attorney's office while friends went seeking additional collateral for his new bond.

Wife of Iceman Mother of Triplets

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—Jess Wingo, an iceman, now has a new set of triplets to speak of in his conversations to his customers.

The three babies, two boys and one girl, were born 15 minutes apart. The babies have been named Jess, John and Julia. Strange, too, that the baby girl should be the oldest of the three.

CITY CASH LOW, KERR WARNS

Exhaustion of all city appropriation funds is near unless rigid economy is used by all departments, Controller James P. Kerr informed Council yesterday.

An inspection of the appropriation fund records showed, the controller pointed out, that money is being used rapidly.

He said:

"All activities that will not interfere with the proper administration of the city government must be curtailed if we are to keep within the 1931 appropriations."

Councilman W. Y. English, chairman of the Finance Committee, said recently that after a conference with Mayor Kline it had been decided to enforce "as much economy as possible" in making up the 1932 budget for all departments.

In line with the Controller's announcement, Public Works Director Edward G. Lang told Council yesterday that the 1931 sewer repairs appropriation had been exhausted. He asked $11,000 to install a 24-inch relief sewer on Northumberland street.

Mr. Nunn, now teaching at New York University, and Mr. Warne, now teaching at Amherst, both dropped from Pitt's faculty in the Liberal Club scrape, with Associate Editor Hallgren, of the Nation, at Mollenauer inspecting the living conditions of striking miners' families. The basket has free, relief rations for six: Two loaves of bread, one quart of dried beans, two and a half pounds of flour and a quarter peck of potatoes. Wilson is a relief group worker.

Homes Burned, Bombed In New Mine Violence

Violence returned to the coal fields early this morning when strike sympathizers fired the home of a miner at Midland, near Canonsburg, and bombed another at Atlasburg, near Avella.

Harold Tilton, one of 56 miners who returned to work in the Atlasburg mine of the Carnegie Cial Company today, escaped injury when a bomb wrecked the front of his home. His mother, sister and brother also were unharmed.

About 250 miners picketed the Atlasburg mine without disorder as operations were resumed. Normally the mine employs 450 men.

John Chinchilla, a miner living alone in a company house at the Pittsburgh Coal Company's Midland mine, barely escaped from a fire that had been started with gasoline taken from his automobile, parked nearby, shortly after 3 a. m. today.

He was aroused by smoke and escaped from the two-room cabin through a window.

A brick was hurled through a window of the Budd-Davis Commissary Company, 505 Second avenue, at 8:30 a. m. today, according to a police report.

The company has been employing men for work in mines affected by the strike of coal miners, police said.

Rare Eggs, First Found On Continent, Shown Here

Two sets of Harris sparrow eggs, rarest of all bird eggs and the only ones ever collected on the North American continent, were at Carnegie Museum today. They were collected by the Carnegie Museum Expedition of 1931 in the Far North, where its members braved blizzards for two months.

With the addition of the Harris sparrow eggs, the Carnegie Museum collection is now nearly complete. Only one other egg—the rare Ross goose—remains to be found.

Numerous other eggs, birds' nests and small mammals were also gathered.

The expedition was in charge of John B. Semple, of Sewickley, accompanied by Dr. George M. Sutton, noted ornithologist, and two student aides. They camped at Fort Churchill, on the western shore of Hudson Bay. Semple said:

"After watching the Harris bird for several days we located its nest and found one set of perfect eggs. Later we found another nest which contained five eggs. I consider these eggs the prize of my collection, the first Harris sparrow eggs ever found in North America."

ART OF SPENCER AND FORAIN IN EXHIBIT HERE

Deaths of Noted Painters Not to Keep Their Works Out of International Show

By PENELOPE REDD

Death notwithstanding, the paintings of Robert Spencer and of Jean Louis Forain will be included in the coming Carnegie International Exhibition.

The Carnegie Institute had extended the usual invitation to participate, so their recent deaths will not prevent the farewell appearance of the venerable Frenchman and of the distinguished American.

Penelope Redd

Forain's 79 years marked his development from that of a newspaper caricaturist to the highest position attainable in the international art world. Success never mitigated his incisive satiric bitterness.

Spencer, in his briefer life of 50 years, veered from his early tranquil painting to a style which regarded the affairs of the common people as of gravest import.

Prior to his death by his own hand, he had passed on to another phase. His ability was ordered into the painting of austere portraits of aristocrats.

Spencer was well known and liked in Pittsburgh. His "Inland City" was acquired by Carnegie Institute.

Forain's exhibition of drawings and etchings at Carnegie Institute in 1923 was the choicest exhibition that Director Saint-Gaudens has sponsored.

$76,000 MORE FOR HIGHLAND POOL ASKED

Lang Sees Total Cost of $241,000; Opposes Plan For Lights Under Water

The city's new swimming pool at Lake Carnegie, Highland Park, will cost $241,000 when completed, instead of the $150,000 originally estimated, Public Works Director Edward G. Lang told Council yesterday, when he requested an additional $76,000 to continue the project.

At the same time Lang opposed Council's suggestion to install electric lights under the surface in the pool to aid lifeguards in searching for possible night drowning victims. Lang asserted the lights, costing $10,000, would not be effective in so large a pool.

Council's suggestion that the department paint the sides and bottom of the pool white will be carried out, Lang said. He suggested to Council that an overhead bridge be erected as a lifeguard lookout.

Plans are being made to open the pool for daylight swimming August 1. It is unlikely, the director said, that night swimming will be permitted this year. Appliances for night bathing will be installed after the pool is closed next September.

The pool was to have been completed last Memorial Day.

HEARING SLATED ON GARBAGE BID CHARGE

Council Acts in Dispute Over New Firm Seeking Contract for Removal

A public hearing is to be held tomorrow by City Council on charges made by Francis Guthrie, a taxpayer, that the Modern Service Company failed to comply with specifications in bidding for the city's garbage and rubbish removal contracts.

The bids were opened last week by Dr. C. B. Maits, director of the Department of Health.

Guthrie asked Council to permit him to present statements relative to the personnel of the Modern Service Company, low bidder on the contracts, as well as an opportunity to prove that the company failed to include in its specifications the locations of incinerator and disposal plants.

Other bidders on the matter were the American Reduction Company and its subsidiary, the Allegheny Garbage Company. Both hold contracts for removal of refuse from the city for 1931. The Modern Service Company contract figures are for three-year terms. The Allegheny and American companies bid on a one, two and three-year basis.

Attorney Charles B. Prichard, secretary and treasurer of the Modern firm, when informed of Guthrie's action, said:

"The charge is ridiculous. We will prove our case in every detail at Wednesday's hearing."

FIND THIRD MAN IN SLAYING

The third Negro wanted in the slaying of Patrolman James Hughes, Negro, shot to death by gunmen in the Hill district, December 27, 1929, was ordered arrested in Jackson, Miss., today by Lieut. Frank Ferris, of the homicide squad.

He is John Franklin, 30, who, according to Ferris, fled the city after the murder of Hughes. Ned Wilkins, formerly of this city, now living in Jackson, held for a time as a material witness, kept his promise to Ferris that if he ever encountered Franklin he would have him arrested.

Wilkins lured Franklin to his home, then notified police. When they arrived they arrested Wilkins and released Franklin. They communicated with Ferris, who wired the sheriff to apprehend Franklin at once.

American Doubts Execution by Mexico

EL PASO, Tex., July 14.—(AP.)—W. J. (Jeff) Meers, American under death sentence in the penitentiary at Chihuahua City, Chihuahua, Mexico, does not believe he will be executed. In an interview with a staff representative of the El Paso Herald Post, Meers said several men had received death sentences since his imprisonment at the penitentiary, but none of them had been carried out.

He was given the death penalty recently by Judge Francisco Davila Navarro after conviction of killing Antonio Visconti, a waiter in a Juarez cafe in June, 1930.

COUNCIL TO PAY FULL CLAIM OF ENGINEERS

Reppert Approves Inquiry Costs; 'Extras' Charged in Quiz of Excess Estimates

The committee of five engineers who investigated the City Department of Works to ascertain, among other things, just how to eliminate overcharges—and then submitted a bill with an overcharge of their own for $2,430—probably will be paid the full $7,430.

Chief Engineer Charles M. Reppert yesterday recommended that Council pay the bill.

The councilmen balked when the bill was originally presented, W. Y. English, chairman of the finance committee, saying:

"The engineers were to be paid $15 an hour up to $5,000. Mr. Reppert should go back to them and tell them they should not put in a bill for 'extras.' That was what Former Controller Evans complained about when he started this investigation."

China Wants 'Singies' Instead of Talkies

TIENTSIN, China, July 14.—(AP.)—Chinese singies are threatening to drown out American talkies. M. Y. Lo, manager of a chain of theaters, says spoken drama on stage or screen leaves Chinese audiences cold. They prefer the age-old custom of actors singing their lines.

C. E.'S PARADING IN CALIFORNIA

SAN FRANCISCO, July 14.—(AP.)—To the strains of "Onward Christian Soldiers," 10,000 young people organized today to parade in a spectacular display of the spirit that has brought them from all parts of the world to attend the golden jubilee convention of the International Society of Christian Endeavor.

With half a dozen bands, an honor escort of police, banners, flags and costumes of a dozen countries, the parade offers the single mass display of the convention, which lasts the entire week.

The youth of China was the subject of an address at the session last night by Dr. C. Y. Cheng, moderator of the United Church of Christ in China. He said:

"As long as young people in such numbers have this interest in religion, there is no danger to the future of religion here, in China or anywhere else.

"In the Nanking government, there is scarcely a man over 40. Most of them are of the student group, and some are hardly more than boys. At this time, there are more Christians in this Nanking government than we have ever had before."

Huckleberry Pie Crop Threatened By Copperheads

BELLEFONTE, Pa., July 14.—Lovers of huckleberry pie should have no trouble in satisfying their appetite for that delicious dish this year, as the crop on most every mountain in Centre County is the largest in years. The only drawback is that the crop of venomous snakes, especially the aggressive copperhead, is also large, and berry pickers are cautious.

Pennies Detain Two Pittsburgh Youths

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., July 14.—Two Pittsburgh boys, Casmer Wikoski, 19, of 809 Stanton avenue, and John Chiodo, 17, of 303 Stanton avenue, were taken into custody yesterday when they tendered pennies for fare at the Pennsylvania Station here. They had more than 300 pennies in their possession. Police are holding the boys while they investigate how they came into possession of the pennies.

The Moses drug store at Forbes street and Shady avenue was robbed of $300 in cash, 45 pints of whisky, tobacco and cigarets valued at $50, and several flashlights.

George Mitseas, owner of a restaurant at 2622 Carson street, reported his cash register had been robbed of $110.

A man who ordered a lunch robbed the cash register in the American Coffee Shop, 42 Third avenue, of $22, when Mike Mullen, night manager, went into the kitchen to prepare the order.

28 NATIONS SIGN NARCOTIC CURB

GENEVA, July 14.—(AP.)—Representatives of 28 nations last night signed an international convention limiting the manufacture and regulating the distribution of narcotic drugs.

The treaty was the result of discussions of delegates from 56 nations which have been in progress here for seven weeks.

Other signatures, including that of the United States, are expected within the next few days.

Among the signers were Germany, France, Holland, Switzerland, Great Britain and Japan, six of the leading manufacturing states. Turkey and Jugo-Slavia, two of the chief opium producing states, are not expected to sign at present.

So much more for your money
The quality you insist on—
at a very low price★

The first time you drive a Pontiac you're due for a genuine surprise—especially if you have based your ideas on small cars costing just a little less. You'll find the whole "feel" of Pontiac different—it gives you a totally different kind of ride.

First is the feeling of power. You'll note pick-up, speed and a driving ease you never looked for at so low a price. If you like to get where you are going without being boxed in traffic or shifting too much on hills, you'll call Pontiac a performer after your own heart.

Then there's comfort—deep seats, flexible springs, four hydraulic shock absorbers and enough weight and length. And, even if you know little about mechanics, you'll readily see how rubber cushions at 43 points in Pontiac's chassis take up road shocks.

On sizzling summer days, and in wet weather, you'll marvel at how well Pontiac's insulated Fisher body shuts out heat and dampness. And when you run a critical eye over the interior fittings and finish, you'll see why Pontiac owners are so glad to have their friends ride with them . . . genuine mohair or whipcord upholstery, for one thing! (Fine leather in open models.)

The graceful body lines, the broad one-piece fenders with neat built-in fender lamps, the deep V-radiator with its chrome screen—these and many other fine-car features will help make you proud to own a Pontiac . . . an outstanding General Motors value. You'll like the very low price, too—for what a satisfaction it is to get so much more for your money!

Follow This Unusual Feature Day by Day

Don't Get Reckless Because Of Hard Times

Barbara's wondering if she should become one of those pitiful parasites who live in the shadow of some man's bank roll, but never under the legal protection of his name.

No, Barbara isn't a brazen, bad girl—heartless gold-digger. She's a discouraged, motherless kid . . . terribly lonely . . . on the verge of starvation . . . hopelessly in love with a man who can't marry her, because he has a wife already.

"Crazy about you baby, but I haven't money enough to get a divorce," sez he. Yet he has money enough to offer to rent an apartment—if she'll keep on working.

WORKED HARD

"Dear Miss Martin:—

"I need your help and advice, and you can't realize how much I will appreciate it, if you will give it to me. I am 22. My mother died some time ago, and I have been supporting myself for a long time. I never got a very good education, because I had to start working when I was only 14. When mother died, I quit, and kept house for my father. Recently, he told me that he was going to marry a girl even younger than I, and said I had better try to get myself a job, as she would be coming to the house soon to live.

"So I got a place for $12 a week, as typist, file clerk and office assistant. I have worked hard and done the best I could, but I guess maybe I was born under an unlucky star. I am considered good looking, and people who come to the office say they think I am the happiest girl in town, because I am always smiling, but under that smile, well—I sometimes don't know where the next nickel is coming from.

FELL IN LOVE

"I have tried to do the right thing. My mother always talked to me about being good, and I believe that I have been everything she could want me to be, until this very day. But honestly, I am wondering . . . Does it pay?

"About four years ago, I fell in love with a man about 26. I have been going with him now for a year. He is married, but I didn't know that at first. He has helped me many a time and has been a perfect gentleman. Now he tells me he wants me, but hasn't money enough to get a divorce.

"Sometimes I feel so sorry for him. A couple of times he has cried. He will say, 'Barbara, I want you so much! If God only knew!' He knows how hard things are for me now, and he wants to get a small apartment for me and pay for it. I could go on working, and go to night school to take a shorthand course.

"I love him with all my heart. I know I always shall. He says that he will always love me and stick to me. So what I want to know is—what would you want your daughter to do? I have been doing the right thing all my life, and it seems it just doesn't pay.

"Do you think that I would regret it, in years to come, if I do what he asks? I thank you from the bottom of my heart, for any help you can give me.

"BARBARA."

Shall you let him get you that apartment?

Never—never—little girl! . . . Yes, I know how hard things are. How hopeless the future seems. How you long for that dear love and protection you lost when mother went. Oh I'm not warning you because I'm "old-fashioned" or prudish—or don't understand how things are nowadays. I understand 'em, youngster, too well! Any newspaper woman does . . . any woman who has seen thousands of lonely little girls like you, and thousands of philandering tomcats like your Boy Friend.

FALSE LOVE

"Not money enough for a divorce?" A divorce is the last thing he wants, Barbara. Not for anything in this world would he disturb his comfort or interrupt his career by the publicity of a divorce. A few dollars a month for an apartment—if you'll keep on working. A few dollars a month, where he may rest and be amused and flattered and indulge in the thrill of romantic adventure . . . while you worship and adore and tell him what a wonderful man he has been to you.

And you? What are you to give in return for this Great Big Marvelous Gift of his?

Your youth. Your dreams. Your decency. Your fresh, young ecstasy. Your standing in the world.

And when the game is over—and it will be over as soon as it has lost its novelty—then what? Who'll want you then? Who'll respect you or put any value on you—when you didn't respect yourself, when you wouldn't put any real value on yourself?

Don't do it, Barbara. Things are dull and dreary just now—but hold on, little sister. And some day you'll thank God for resisting this temptation of false love.

Women Restless and Unhappy Because They Want Everything, Says Fay King

By FAY KING

Women used to be unhappy because their place was only in the home.

Now women are unhappy because their place can be anywhere and they cannot be everywhere at once.

They are restless, not because they do not know what they want, but because they know only too well what they want and that is EVERYTHING!

They want to be young and famous. They want to be rich and happy. They want a home and a career, too.

They want children and freedom.

They want luxury and love and good times and comforts and homes and children and husbands and divorces.

No sooner are they married than they think of divorce and no sooner are they divorced than they think of marriage.

The Sunken Pool in Garden Proves to Be Surprise.

As we followed Dicky and my mother-in-law down the steps, Harry Underwood just behind Jerry Ticer, and the two small boys with, I sensed gratefully, a watchful eye on both of them. Sam Ticer behind them, and Lillian and Mrs. Ticer on either side of me, my father appeared from the library, where he had gone after greeting the homecomers.

"Are you sure?" he began worriedly, and Katherine spoke briskly reassuringly.

"No, she's not overdoing it, but go along with her and make sure that she behaves. She needs a guardian."

"Indeed she does," my father said, earnestly, and Katherine smiled roguishly at me across his shoulder. For months before the arrival of my baby, and ever since, my father has seemed obsessed by the idea that I must be shielded from all exertion and all worry. With the fatuity and unreasonableness which broad-minded men of affairs are apt to display when members of their own family are ill, he would have wrecked the patience of anyone less equable of temper, less comprehending of soul than Katherine. But even Dicky, usually impatient at fussiness, has uttered no captious comment upon the devoted, overshadowing care which my father has given me. Of course, the members of our little world know the reason for this anxiety of his, inordinate, even when, as in my case, the object of such fatherly solicitude is an only child. But to my father's love for me there is always added a sense of remorseful guilt, because I did not know that I had a living father until after my marriage to Dicky. Then, under dramatic circumstances, I met "The Quester," one of the most romantic and mysterious figures in Broadway, a man who always sat alone at a table in first one and then another of the gay resorts of New York, watching, always watching. At last I learned that "The Quester" was my father and that for years he had haunted all public places, hoping to find me, his missing daughter, by the resemblance to my mother which I possessed in infancy.

I already knew the tragic story of her marriage from my mother, who died before I met Dicky, and when I had found my father and, finally, after a long struggle, had forgiven him, he never would let me refer again to that long ago, awful time when he had deserted my mother and me, a child of barely 4 years, and had fled with the woman whom my mother had counted as her best friend.

Never has he felt that he could make up to me sufficiently for those wasted years, and I know that his greatest terror is the fear that he may lose me. Even the great love he has for Junior and now for his tiny granddaughter, has not subtracted from his great affection for me and his anxiety for my welfare.

I love him so much, and have such pitying comprehension of the remorse which is at the root of his great anxiety for me that I cannot disregard it. But I know that, sooner or later, I must assert myself against it, for, without meaning it, he would make a helpless neurotic of me if I yielded to his authority.

Just now, however, I am content to bask in the atmosphere of solicitous care with which not only my father but everyone else is surrounding me. So, it was that I looked up at him with a docile smile as he fussily took the arm which Mrs. Ticer deferentially relinquished as he neared me, and gave Lillian a signal to take care of our neighbor, and see that she did not become offended by treatment more cavalier than my father was wont to offer anybody.

"I am all excited over this surprise," I heard Lillian say graciously to her. "It must be something pretty scrumptious, judging by the way everybody is acting about it."

"Just wait till you see it," my neighbor rejoined, but there was a flatness in her voice which surprised me, for I knew that she was most enthusiastic over the "surprise" which her husband had had a hand in fashioning. It was as if her mind were somewhere else, and I wondered if some untoward occurrence in her family was worrying my good neighbor.

"But I put all speculation from my mind as we came in sight of the "surprise" which Dicky and my father had planned as a welcome to me when I came home from the hospital with my new daughter. They know how intense is my enjoyment of my gardens of roses and of old-fashioned hardy perennials, and they had remembered a frequent remark of mine that all the gardens needed to make them perfect was a water feature. So the first day that I went out to my flowers, expecting to find only the phlox, the monthly roses, the lilies and the coreopsis, those saving standbys of the trying August season, I was enraptured by the discovery which was now eliciting admiring comments from the Underwoods and awestricken "Gee's" from Junior and Roderick.

"This is certainly the very last of all the words," Harry Underwood laid down the dictum as the finish of his enthusiastic comments. "Who did it, anyway?" Dicky waved a hand toward Sam Ticer before speaking, and I smiled at Mrs. Ticer, expecting to see in my good neighbor's face the same simple pleasure which she had displayed when I had first exclaimed in joyous surprise at the pool. But her eyes, fixed on mine, held so tense an expression of worry that it disquieted me. What ever could have happened to her?

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Medicinal Poisons Must Be Kept "Out of Reach"

Many of the fatalities reported in the newspapers are caused by strychnine poisoning. The tragedy is all the greater because these avoidable accidents usually occur among children.

Dr. Copeland

Most pills and tablets taken by persons suffering with constipation contain a certain amount of strychnine. Of course, the drug is present in small quantities.

When taken internally in large amounts strychnine is fatal in its effects. It is not harmful when taken in prescribed doses.

Children are often tempted by the sugar coating of the pills and their pleasant taste. That is why they must be kept away from the reach of the youngsters. In some of the reported cases, as many as 50 tablets have been consumed before the danger was recognized.

Frequently the color of the medicine is an attraction to the child. When carelessly left within reach, the pills gravitate to the mouth and are swallowed.

If you use any patent medicines, please do not leave them within reach of the children. All medicines should be labeled and kept in a locked medicine cabinet. Children should be taught the dangers of drugs.

These tragedies are far too numerous. Statistics from the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company show that during 1926, 1927 and 1928 there were 273 deaths among children due to poisoning.

The type of poisoning was known in 241 deaths, 82 of which were due to strychnine. Out of 82 cases of strychnine poisoning, 46 were due to the taking of cathartic tablets.

I know of no cases of constipation which have been cured by cathartic pills containing strychnine. But I do know of many cases of strychnine poisoning that never would have occurred if some careless person had not left the pills within the reach of children.

Household Hints

Stove blacking mixed with black ink, instead of the customary water, will keep even the worst red lids of the range or stove in splendid condition.

It is better never to water ferns from the top. Instead place the pot in a deep dish and pour the water around it, letting the earth soak up the moisture from the bottom of the pot.

Dressing for plain fruit salads: To lemon juice dressing add one-fourth cupful of orange juice and one teaspoonful of powdered sugar. A light sprinkling of finely chopped nuts is usually a pleasant addition to a fruit salad.

Correct Manners

A Letter of Gratitude

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Recently I spent several months in the hospital and while there the (Blank) Club paid my bills. Now I would like to send them a letter of thanks, but I don't just know how, and what to say. Will you help me?

READER.

Something like this may suggest your note to him:

Arthur Morrison, Esq.,
Secretary ——

My dear Mr. Morrison:

For such a magnificent generosity and kindness as the (name of organization) gave to me there are no words that seem adequate enough to express my thanks and gratitude. My illness was such a deep problem to me, and, as you know, the financial part seemed more than I could possibly bear. Then came the wondrous help of your organization, and the possibility of getting well. I wish you knew how profoundly appreciative I am. . . . I owe all my good health and happiness now to the wonderful plan of your organization. Will you please, in your next meeting, tell them of my deep and high gratitude to them for their help and friendship? I feel that the only way that I can repay them is by passing on to someone else, who needs help as I needed it when you friends came to my aid, the kind of help that you gave to me. That will be my aim.

Best wishes to every member, and heartfelt thanks.

Wedding Announcements

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. Should a wedding announcement be mailed before or after the marriage?

2. Should you always thank a person for calling you up on the telephone? E. J.

1. A wedding announcement, since it announces that the marriage ceremony has taken place, is mailed after that ceremony has taken place. The best procedure is to order the announcements before the wedding, address them, stamp them, and have them entirely ready so that they can be mailed directly after the ceremony has been performed. This means that the friends living in the same city will receive their announcements on the morning after the wedding.

It is the invitations that are mailed before the wedding . . . usually, for a formal wedding, about three weeks before the wedding.

2. This is the gracious, the correct thing to do. And how charming it sounds!

Off-White Shade Better

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Will you kindly tell me whether etiquette will permit the use of a white veil with an egg-shell wedding gown?

F. G.

Don't Charge

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Is it proper to send an invitation for a bridge and shower and charge for subscription?

B. D.

No.

Let Your Child Explain

By CONSTANCE CAMERON

Once again I am going to say that if we only could be as considerate and polite to children as we are to our adult friends how much differently children would respond to our requests.

You wouldn't think of slamming the door in the face of a friend who called to explain why she had to refuse your invitation at the last moment. No, you would make it as easy as possible for her, saying: "That's quite all right. I understand perfectly and hope you can come next time."

But instead of this, it is often the case that mothers neither receive explanations fairly nor allow explanations at all in dealing with their children.

Sherwood was a regular, honest-to-goodness boy, playing hard and working equally hard. And it was his job on Saturday mornings to go over the living room and dining room rugs with the vacuum cleaner. Mother had told him to start on the living room rug this particular morning. Hours had flown by while she was busy in the kitchen, ordering and working in the back part of the house.

Suddenly it came over her that she hadn't heard the whine of the vacuum cleaner yet, and she flew into the living room, where Sherwood sat on the floor, patiently doing something or other. The mother didn't even stop to find out what until after she had scolded Sherwood unmercifully.

"You haven't touched this floor yet," she announced. "I thought I told you—"

"But, mother, I—"

"You know what you have to do and you may as well do it first as last."

"But I couldn't—"

"Why couldn't you? Don't sit there and stare at me like that. Get to work—right this minute—" and she flounced out.

Explanation? What chance did she give the boy to explain that the cleaner was broken and that he had just about finished a job of twisting and untwisting wires, replacing them carefully, a job which saved Mother an electrician's bill.

At least, accord your child the same privilege of explaining that you would a stranger. What's the value of saying "Why did you do that?" and then not giving the child a chance to tell you why?

The Beauty Box

When powdering the celestial portrait, don't overlook the earlobes. Continue the powdering down over the neck to the collar bones, and do a few sweeps over the back of the neck. Otherwise, the job will be only half a job, and not much good.

Best to get tanned slowly. Wear light clothing during the coming season, and there will be greater benefit from sunshine. Ultra violet rays put pep in the system though they are destructive to the texture of the complexion as well as to the delicate coloring.

Coiffures are listing to larboard again, the right side locks being marceled and swept over to bunch out over the left ear, either in coils, puffs or ringlets. Very becoming when the head isn't "tall" or the neck long, because wavelines travel up and down instead of across or on the bias.

Vivid red nail polish is on the wane. Fastidious ladies varnish their pink shells the natural tint. Prettier, more sensible, less ostentatious. When the shellac wears off, patches can be removed by using the same preparation. When nail eaves show stubborn grayness, dig the finger ends into a cut lemon; the juice will bleach them.

2 HOUSES YIELD RUM IN RAIDS

Investigating a complaint that a still was in operation at 2804 Carson street, Lieut. Edward Fallon and a squad of police paused for a few minutes last night when they discovered the same number on two houses, one fronting on the street and the other in the rear.

Fallon decided to visit both, and confiscated a 15-gallon still, and small quantities of moonshine and mash in each, police said. John Filipiak, 41, arrested in the front house, and Mrs. Mary Markwinski, 39, arrested in the other, were charged with keeping disorderly houses.

A wildcat brewery in the basement of a building on the Statler road, near Universal, was raided by prohibition agents last night. Two steel 300-gallon vats of beer and a large quantity of beer mash were found, agents said. Anthony Talores, was reported arrested in the raid.

$20,000 PRIZES TO BE AWARDED

Judson S. Sayre, sales manager of the Kelvinator Corporation, Detroit, addressed several hundred dealers from Western Pennsylvania at a luncheon today in the Fort Pitt Hotel.

The occasion was the inauguration of a comparison campaign to be conducted during July and August. More than $20,000 in 37 prizes will be given to the public in the nation-wide contest.

The contest closes midnight, August 31, 1931. Five thousand dollars in cash is first prize, $1,250 in cash, second prize. Thirty-five new refrigerators, varying in value from $345 to $678, will be given to the next 35 winners.

Other speakers who addressed dealers today were: J. F. Crossin, regional manager; Miles Ewing, manager of the Standard Talking Machine Company; J. C. Roush, president, and Wallace Russell, general manager.

JOBLESS, DIES OF STARVATION

Homeless, jobless and without money or food, John Rudolph, 61, a former brickyard worker, starved to death on a hillside not 300 feet from Baldwin street, a main traffic thoroughfare in Hays.

Boys playing on the hillside found the man sprawled on the ground, a stone beneath his head as a pillow, Sunday afternoon. Around him were a few empty food cans, a battered coffee pot and a meat bone or two—evidence of a long and unsuccessful fight against approaching starvation.

Police took Rudolph to the South Side Hospital where he died last night from the effects, doctors said, of a week or more of starvation.

VOTERS ENROLL FOR PRIMARY

A tax receipt for county taxes on real estate or personal property paid since November 3, 1929, is necessary qualification for voting in the September primary, it was pointed out by register assessors who began today to enroll voters in boroughs and townships throughout Allegheny County. They will sit again tomorrow.

Citizens not owning personal property or real estate, assessed for taxes, must present a receipt for the 50-cent poll tax or an occupational tax receipt issued since November 3, 1929. Registration days in the cities will be September 3, 8 and 12.

County Asks Bids On $50,000 Repairs

The County Commissioners today opened bids for the reinforcement of 23 small bridges, repairs to Noblestown road, the plumbing, heating and ventilating of the comfort station and pumphouse at the county airport, minor sewer repairs and remodeling of the ninth-floor court rooms in the City-County Building. About $50,000 is involved in all of the projects.

Patricia Pitt's Sprightly Comment on Pittsburgh's Society Happenings

As the summer advances travel news becomes more and more interesting. And news of what Pittsburgh society is doing at resorts is always a topic of conversation.

Did you know that the Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon is with his son-in-law and daughter, the David K. Estes Bruces, at their villa on the Riviera? He's expected to sail for home next week.

Margaret Rose, popular young daughter of the Don Roses, whose engagement to William Hamil Trimble, son of the Robert Maurice Trimbles of Ben Avon, has been announced, will leave Thursday, she plans, for Ahmic Lake, Canada, where her father and mother, the Don Roses, have their summer place. She hasn't set any date for her wedding yet.

Friendliness and Faith Praised By Gertrude Gordon, Former News Writer, at Lunch

Miss Gertrude Gordon, former Pittsburgh newspaper woman, was guest of honor at the luncheon given yesterday by the Women's Press Club, one of the largest summer affairs this organization has ever had. It was held in the Woman's City Club with attractive decorations of baby's breath, purple fox glove and scarlet butterfly weed.

Miss Mary L. Hay, re-elected president, introduced Miss Gordon, who gave a charming and entertaining talk, telling of her work and bringing word of the other clubmembers and former members who are now living in the East. Incidentally, Miss Gordon paid a high tribute to Mrs. Ambrose Nevin Diehl, also a member of the club, whose private secretary she is, and to clubwomen in general for their friendliness, their encouragement and their faith.

The speaker brought to the members the news that Mrs. Diehl has just been appointed chairman of motion pictures in the National Council of Women. This she will hold in addition to the same post in the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

During her visit here Miss Gordon will be the guest of Miss Antoinette Moran, of Chislett street.

Local delegates to the biennial convention of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs returned home Sunday evening, all most enthusiastic in their reports of convention attainments and programs. A meeting place for the 1933 convention was not selected, although Springfield, Ill., sent an invitation. The convention city will be chosen at an executive committee meeting in October.

One of the most important actions taken was to set aside $1,000 which will be used by the legislative committee to investigate discrimination against women in business and the professions. This investigation will be based on the questionnaires sent out some time ago to members of the federation.

Lena Madesin Phillips and Walter Millard were considered by local members to be the outstanding speakers of the convention. Pennsylvania had a representation of more than 225, the largest state delegation present. The Pittsburgh, Wilkinsburg, McKeesport and New Kensington delegates visited Endless Caverns before coming home.

SIMPLICITY KEYNOTE TO FROCK WITH YOUTHFUL APPEARANCE

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, July 14.—Simplicity does come high when it is of the sartorial variety, but there is no doubt about it being highly popular, despite the times. For nearly every smart house is creating simple little afternoon frocks and getting extremely good prices for them. More and more do women turn from the fussy and dressy and turn to frocks that are simple in material, cut and design. For we have discovered that simplicity makes for youth and that the more elaborate the frocks the more it seems to have the unfortunate faculty of adding years to the appearance. We have, most of us, tried this experiment by now, and have convinced ourselves that it is so. And so that is why the dressmakers are concentrating on simple little afternoon frocks, and selling them to their smartest and most important clients. It is an easy way to aid one in looking young, and to look young is to keep young and full of verve.

* * *

TO AID OUR treatise that the simpler the frock the more youthful the appearance it bestows, we are showing you sketches of two simple little affairs from Mirande—models of artfully attained simplicity. The first is a charming little frock for informal afternoon wear. It is a sleeveless model of white marocain with a little flat cape. Revers at the front of the bodice terminate beneath a large bow of red and white plaided taffeta. Wide pockets are placed in the tops of the side panels of the skirt. The belt of the material has a flat tailored bow in front. To identify it with resort wear, the model is named "Antibes."

* * *

PASTEL BLUE shantung makes the other frock by Mirande. The short-sleeved bodice has a deep yoke closing with three large pearl buttons. The seams of the bodice and top of the skirt are marked with hemstitching. A soft belt of the material is knotted at one side and the skirt is amply circular.

Kremer's Tough Luck. • Retzlaff's Eastern Test.
Elliott Leads League. • Wolgast Retains Title.
First Lifting of Grove. • Coney Island Revival.

REMY HAS YET TO WIN TWO IN ROW

RARELY DOES A PITCHER possessing the class of Remy Kremer arrive at this advanced stage of a season without having won two games in succession, but that's the record that stretches behind the big Californian in spite of the fact that the quality of his pitching for many weeks has been up to the highest standards in the league. It has been the toughest season of Kremer's career in the matter of adverse breaks, and yesterday's heart-breaking 1-to-0 defeat was only a further addition to a long run of misfortune that qualifies the Pirate ace for a ranking among the hard-luck hurlers of the year.

Remy Kremer

The dope sheets disclose that Kremer has won only six games to date while losing 10, yet Remy has been pitching ball equal to the best he ever delivered in his life, and it is only because his mates have repeatedly failed to give him any support worthy of the name, particularly on the offense, that his record does not show several more victories than defeats.

EVERY TIME KREMER walks to the rubber the Pirates fall into a batting slump. Remy practically has got to shut out the enemy to save himself from defeat, and even then he is apt to get no better than a tie. Yesterday he held the Phils to a single run, and that not scored until the ninth inning, but with his usual ill luck he ran into the only shutout Jumbo Elliott has pitched this season.

In his last two games, or 18 innings, Kremer has allowed only three runs and 4 hits, yet got only an even split. In his last three games, and one of them went 11 innings, he has allowed only seven runs and 23 hits, yet he lost two of the three contests. Remy's won and lost record this year is a strong exhibit in refutation of the ancient claim that figures don't lie.

YESTERDAY'S AFFAIR AT Forbes Field was only the second of eight shutout games involving the Pirates this season in which Heinie Meine was not on the mound for the Pittsburgh club. Meine was in six of the whitewash numbers, Brame and Osborn in one and Kremer in the latest.

The balance is against the Bucs in the shutout games, as they have lost five of the eight. The locals blanked the Cards twice and the Braves once, and were in turn held runless once each by the Cubs, Giants, Braves, Robins and Phillies.

WHO DO YOU think is the leading pitcher of the National League in games won? None other than the same Jumbo Elliott who held the Pirates to a row of horse collars yesterday. That victory was the twelfth of the season for Elliott, and no other hurler in the loop has turned in a dozen wins. Burleigh Grimes, Fred Fitzsimmons and Ed Brandt are nearest to the mark with 11 each. Elliott has won as many games as Wes Ferrell or Rube Walberg, and in fact the only men in either league who have piled up a greater number of victories than the Philly southpaw are Connie Mack's two stars, Lefty Grove and George Earnshaw. Elliott has proved more valuable than all of the four other players involved in the Brooklyn-Philadelphia deal in which he was chucked in merely for good measure.*

Lefty Grove

THOUGH HE GOT credit for the victory of the A's in the first half of the doubleheader with Washington, Lefty Grove was lifted for a pinchhitter in the eighth inning, making it the first game started by him this season which he failed to finish.

Prior to yesterday, Grove started 16 games and went the distance every time, winning 15 of the contests. He now boasts 18 victories against only two defeats. He has won nine in a row, and of the last 18 games he pitched to a decision he lost only one. Lefty looks good to reach the 20 mark in wins at an earlier date than any other major league chucker has reached it in quite a string of seasons.

OF THE 13 GAMES played between the A's and Senators so far, not counting one tie, the Mackmen have won eight, which means that the Johnsons will have to do a great deal better in the nine tilts yet to come if they are to have any chance to beat out the White Elephants.

None of the other clubs, seemingly, has the strength to pull back the two-time champions, and the Senators will have to do the job themselves if it is to be done at all. In view of the way they have fallen down on the contract to date, their prospects cannot be termed overly bright.

IT MAY BE rather early to start digging into pennant figures, as the season has almost 11 weeks to go, but even now the contract of overtaking the A's is beginning to loom as too tough for any rival. If the Macks play .600 ball the remainder of the way, and that looks to be easily within their powers, they will win 100 games for the season by taking 43 of their remaining 73. In that event, for Washington to beat them out, it will be necessary for the Senators to win 49 of their remaining 71 games, a gait of .690, or better than two out of every three.

IN LOOKING ABOUT for possible heavyweight championship contenders of the future, fight fans will keep an eye on Charley Retzlaff in his eastern debut tonight, when he meets Ralph Ficucello, rugged Brooklyn Italian, for 10 rounds in New York. Retzlaff has been coming along so steadily and impressively that he shapes up as one of the best young prospects in the class.

In one of the preliminaries to the Schmeling-Stribling fight in Cleveland, this former Duluth farmer boy added to his growing reputation by stopping Marty Gallagher. Among his previous knockout victims was the husky Tom Heeney. In 32 matches he has scored 28 knockouts and has not been defeated. If he gets past Ficucello tonight, and he looks to have a good chance, he will bear watching.

THE SUCCESS OF Midget Wolgast in retaining the world flyweight championship by winning the decision over Ruby Bradley in the 15-round title fight at Coney Island last night was in line with the advance dope that made the champion a heavy favorite in the betting.

Midget Wolgast

The Holyoke Negro, while a fair performer as flyweights go, had done nothing to indicate that he would have a chance to unseat Wolgast. The latter is clearly the best fighter in his class despite the fact that Frankie Genaro still is recognized as champion by the National Boxing Association.

SEEING CONEY ISLAND as the scene of a world championship fight recalls to veteran glove fans the days when it was one of the most prominent spots on the Queensberry map. Last night's bout was the first championship affair held there since Jim Jeffries defended the heavyweight title successfully against Jim Corbett on May 11, 1900, stopping Corbett in the twenty-third round, but there was a time when all the famous champions were fighting on the island. It was there that Jeffries won the heavyweight title from Bob Fitzsimmons in 1898 and defended it against Tom Sharkey, as well as against Corbett. It was also the scene of such battles as Maher and McCoy, McAuliffe and Griffo, Choynski and Godfrey, Lavigne and Everhardt, Dixon and Tommy Sullivan, McGovern and White, Sharkey and Ruhlin, Sharkey and Fitzsimmons and many others.

MISSISSAUGA GOLF CLUB, TORONTO, July 14. — (AP.) — Pervy Alliss, of Berlin, took a one-stroke lead over Walter Hagen, of New York, on the first nine holes of their 36-hole play off today for the Canadian open golf championship, scoring a 34—two under par—to Hagen's 35.

Alliss started out in 4 3 3 3 to take a four-stroke lead over The Haig, but the latter got one of the strokes back at the fifth where he sank a long putt for a birdie 4, did a par 4 on the eighth, while Alliss was taking 5, and then got a birdie on the ninth to Alliss' par 4. Their cards:

Alliss	4	3	3	3	5	3	4	5	4	—34
Hagen	5	4	3	5	4	3	4	4	3	—35

Alliss thrilled the spectators by shooting a brilliant eagle 3 on the par 5 480-yard fourth hole to become four strokes ahead of Hagen. Alliss' drive was sliced close to a tree, but the foreigner's second was a beauty, coming to rest two feet short of the green. From there Alliss holed a sensational 30-foot putt. Hagen took a five.

TONY CANZONERI KEEPS TITLE

LOS ANGELES, July 14.—(INS.)—Tony Canzoneri still wore his world junior-welterweight crown perked jauntily alongside his lightweight fedora today, the challenge of Cecil Payne, of Louisville, having been resisted successfully in a 10-round fight here last night.

Canzoneri weighed in at 132½ pounds and Payne at 136, safely over the lightweight limit, so as to leave Canzoneri that title no matter what happened.

Canzoneri scored a near-knockout in the first minute of the first round when he caught the challenger flush on the chin with a right, dropping him for a count of three.

Badly shaken, Payne arose, and, trying to get in close, was backed across the ring against the ropes, where another right found the mark, and Payne, practically out on his feet, slumped to the ropes, which prevented him from going to the floor. He managed to cover up and weather the storm, but from that time one there was no question as to the winner.

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: HAMMAM MESKOUTINE—"THE BATH OF THE DAMNED"—ALGERIA—The steaming hot waterfall of Hammam Meskoutine springs from thermal sources, the temperature of which is at the boiling point. The waters are highly charged with lime salts which quickly solidify in the open air. These deposits of lime salts constantly increase the volume of the rocks over which the waters flow. The bizarre shape of the rocks, and the eternal vapor enveloping them, lend the waterfall a fantastic appearance. The local Arabs have many romantic legends to account for the origin of the "Waters of the Accursed." THE MASQUERADE VEILS OF THE OMANI WOMEN—El Thoveini, the imam (ruler) of Oman in Arabia, visited Paris during the carnival of 1869 and was so favorably impressed with the sights that, upon his return, he made it compulsory for the women of his country to wear opera masks. This bizarre custom, transplanted from the banks of the Seine, gives the traveler the impression of having arrived in a country of perpetual masked balls.

TOMORROW: THE WETTEST SPOT ON EARTH.

HOGAN LEADS WESTERN

PORTLAND, Ore., July 14.—(AP.)—They called it the western amateur golf tournament, but today, after yesterday's first 18 holes of the 36-hole qualifying round, it looked more like the Portland city or Oregon state championship.

Led by their recently dethroned Pacific Northwest champion, Eddie Hogan, 21-year-old stylist, with a course-burning 69, 18 Portland stars finished among the low 31 in the first half of the qualifying race.

The thirty-second position has already been awarded to Johnny Lehman, Chicago, defending champion.

Arloo Kyle, veteran fellow townsman of Hogan, sprung the biggest surprise of the day when he clipped four strokes off perfect figures on the outward nine to score a remarkable 31. This with his 39 on the way home gave him a total of 70 to place second.

Lindstrom to Leave Hospital for Chicago

PHILADELPHIA, July 14.—(AP.)—Fred Lindstrom, right-fielder of the New York Giants, who broke a bone in his left instep in a game with the Phillies here last week, expects to leave the hospital here on Thursday and will go to Chicago. He will be on crutches for some time.

Max Gets Big Reception in Berlin

BERLIN, July 14.—(AP.)—Nothing was left undone in the way of speeches and ceremony yesterday to assure Max Schmeling that he was really welcome home as Germany's hero. The heavyweight champion landed at Templehof Airdrome from Bremen and a crowd of 8,000 turned out to greet the conqueror of Willie Stribling in Cleveland 10 days ago.

"I'm glad to be back home," he said. "And I'm glad I had a chance to prove myself a genuine champion. I'm home to visit mother and I'm going to take a good rest."

NATIONAL SWIM MEET OPENS

NEW YORK, July 14.—America's finest women swimmers gathered at the Bronx Beach pool and held intensive workouts yesterday for the National A. A. U. swimming and diving championships, which will open tonight and continue through Saturday night.

Helene Madison, of Seattle, Wash., holder of nearly every speed record and free-style championship among women, visited Bronx Beach for the first time and threshed through the 200-yard pool in excellent time.

Other stars who practiced included Eleanor Holm, of New York, national backstroke champion; Josephine McKim, of Los Angeles; Constance Hanf, 14-year-old Long Island free-style star; Mae Cutnall, of Pittsburgh, and Marjorie Lowe, of Los Angeles.

JOHNNIES TRIP CHARLEROI

Godfrey, Beaten On Mat, Wins In Ring

TORONTO, July 14.—(AP.)—George Godfrey, giant Negro, worked at both his trades—wrestling and boxing—here last night and wound up all even.

As a wrestler, George was thrown by Stanley Stasiak, of Poland, in 11 minutes 43 seconds, but not long afterward Godfrey returned to his first love, boxing, and stopped George Gemas, Philadelphia heavyweight, in 1:22 of the second round.

GORNICK STOPS LAWRENCE

DAYTON, July 14.—Marty Gornick, classy Pittsburgh lightweight, delivered a knockout punch to Joey Lawrence, of Dayton, in the fourth round of a scheduled 10-round fight here last night.

Shortly after the fourth round got under way, Gornick let loose a left hook that caught Lawrence flush on the jaw and floored him for a count of two.

Lawrence arose, dazed by the punch, Gornick lost no time. He waded right into his man and delivered a left and right, and the right cross flattened Lawrence for the 10 count.

Gornick and Lawrence fought evenly for the first two rounds with neither getting over an effective punch. In the third Marty put on steam and annexed the edge with some clever boxing.

In the other 10-rounder Spug Meyers, junior welterweight, from Idaho, defeated Jimmy Kelly, of Dayton, by a technical knockout in the seventh round.

The doubleheader splurge, which so far has been a boomerang to the Pirates, was with us again today as the Bucs and Phillies prepared to clash in a Forbes Field bargain bill. The first battle was due to get under way at 2 o'clock.

Manager Jewel Ens, of the home team, expects to use Heinie Meine and Lefthander Charley Wood on Fogarty Knoll in the two-way attraction. Burt Shotton, the Quaker pilot, may assign Clise Dudley and Phil Collins to slab duty.

The Freebooters, it seems, have gone back into their lethargic stride, after exciting the fans during a portion of last week. They have now lost three games in succession, and their two battles previous to the three mentioned resulted in a draw and a defeat.

BUCS LOOK BAD

It was a sorry spectacle the Pirates offered yesterday as they bowed to the Phils in a 1-to-0 game. The immediate victim of the defeat was the reliable Remy Kremer, who by this time should be getting accustomed to "the slings and arrows of outrageous fortune," or whatever it was that Shakespeare penned when referring to Battling Hamlet, the gent who couldn't get a break when he needed one.

Figuratively speaking, the Frenchman has long been waiting for the sunshine. Remy wishes it to come in the cloak of base-hits, but the Pirates are not a smart-hitting team and Kremer may have to wait a long time before he can feel reasonably sure of the fulfillment of his fond hopes.

RAY HURLS WELL

Kremer really pitched shutout ball yesterday, the Quakers making a lucky run in the ninth inning. The fact that Howdy Groskloss has a bad leg seems to enter into the drama that brought sorrow to Kremer and the Pirates in the first game with the Quakers. Kremer had one foeman out of the picture in the ninth when Klein drove a ball to the right of the young secondbaseman. The rocket appeared to skid a bit as Howdy went after it. He nailed it cleanly, but was off balance for his shot to first, and when the ball reached Grantham, Klein was there, too, so he won a hit that had a most important bearing on the battle.

Chuck is just about as fast as Lloyd Waner or Fred Brickell, but his massive physique may fool some of the infielders. Moreover,

Says Nick Altrock

(Baseball's Comedian)

WASHINGTON, July 14.—You don't need a stethoscope to find out where all the sentiment in the National League is leaning. All the folks in neutral and unfortified cities are pulling for old Wilbert Robinson to land. Robbie has also got some very strong pop bottle support in the Ebbets Field stands. Brooklyn just got jostled out of the pennant late last year, and when the team started this season by getting stuck in a detour, the management ordered a nice wide chute to push Uncle Wilbert down.

Nick Altrock

But just before the obsequies, the Robins got loaded up on poppy seed or some other kind of hop, and look at the darn things now. They are liable to cop the flag.

Dormont vs. Homewood in the City League. That is the battle expected to pack in sandlot followers this evening at the Homewood Playgrounds. It has been many moons since Dormont appeared in the East End as a champion.

Fans will have an opportunity to see Dormont's heavy artillery aim at the so-called short right-field fence at Homewood. Whether they will be able to train their guns on Clawson street is a matter for the visiting club to decide.

What probably will be the last game in the first half of the Commercial and Industrial League is slated this evening when Reliance Life hopes to win its thirty-third consecutive game in that particular loop when Frank Rush's B. & O. team is met at Langley Field. George Miller's classy entry in the C. & I. has hung up a mark that will keep for a long time in that league's competition.

With the Rietks, Hornes, B. & O. and Pittsburgh Coal all having good all-round teams, the feat of Reliance is worthy of more than passing notice. Capt. Dutch Spencer and Bill Gormley have had to play strenuous baseball to keep up their winning streak.

The championship game for the West Penn loop first half title will be played between the Homewood Aces and Reliance Life at Langley Field next Tuesday. Managers Jack Fertig, of the steel workers, and George Miller, got together yesterday and set the date.

Honus Wagner has announced that the roster for the second half of the Steel City League will include 10 clubs. The right to meet the East End Cardinals in the post-season playoffs goes to the winner.

Ten clubs seems to be a heavy roster for the second half, but the teams appear to want to go through with it.

Hornsby and Malone Defendants in Suit

ST. LOUIS, July 14.—(INS.)—Manager Rogers Hornsby and Pitcher Pat Malone, of the Chicago Cubs, are defendants in two suits on file here today.

Miss Effie Blume, a nurse, sued Hornsby for $50,000 for injuries sustained in an auto accident while she was a guest of the Hornsbys in May, 1930. Mrs. Jeannette Hornsby and David Young, the Hornsby chauffeur, are co-defendants.

Miss Theresa Gallagher filed a $7,000 damage suit against Malone, charging that on May 2 he twisted her arm until it was broken. Malone may have been trying to show her how to pitch a curve ball.

Swissvale bowed before Linwood, 5-2, in the West Penn circuit, and the Lineys bumped the North Siders, 5-2, in the North-South loop.

St. Michael's, Brown Stars, Linden Grove, Wagner Stars and Avalon annexed independent contests.

HARVARD ACE FIRST TO ENTER NET PLAY

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

Frank Broida, slim Harvard southpaw, who last year galloped through a large and powerful field to annex local municipal racquet honors, cops the distinction of being the first to file entry for the second annual Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Pittsburgh Public Parks tennis championships, the starting date of which—Monday, July 27—was broadcast only yesterday. Broida's blank was in the hands of the Tournament Editor before the last of the wash-day editions had rolled from the press, the Crimson ace tossing down the gauntlet to his rivals in ample time to serve notice upon all that the parks' men's singles crown will not go undefended.

"I'm getting in early," stated Broida, "partly because I want to be certain of having the chance to hold my title, and the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Challenge Cup, but mainly in order to give an example to parks players who may be wavering over whether or not to enter the competition. Inasmuch as I had the pleasure of seeing the entire tournament through last year from the preliminary rounds and Inter-Park Series at Frick Park to the National Championships at Washington, D. C., and as I enjoyed the play and the trip tremendously, I'd like to pass the good word around to others that the municipal championship is worth-while fighting for.

HAD SPLENDID TRIP

"It was keen fun meeting the boys whom I was fortunate enough to win from here in Pittsburgh, and it was even better in Washington, though I wasn't able to land the national trophy in the face of the strong opposition that I encountered at Rock Creek Park. But they entertained us most pleasantly, and I think I learned a lot of tennis from taking on several of the stars from other cities. Anyway, I shall give all I've got in an effort to capture a second leg on the Pittsburgh trophy, and to land the chance to travel to Detroit for the 1931 National Public Parks Championships as the guest of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph."

Broida bagged Pittsburgh Center Junior honors last year and represented this district in both the western and national junior championships, in both of which he deported himself with credits. Throughout the past spring he compiled an enviable record as a member of the Harvard junior varsity suad and, on his return to town, he forged to the fourth round of the Western Pennsylvania men's singles jousting before Sam Harbison, the ultimate runner-up, nosed him out in three hectic sets.

In the West Penn doubles, Broida and his former Peabody pal, Chuck Maits, attained the quarter-finals and numbered the Bill Haseltine-Fred Rudisill combine among their victims.

That Broida was a worthy representative of the Steel City in the 1930 nationals is attested by the fact that in the official national public parks rankings he is rated sixteenth in singles and, with his partner, Pat Deck, of Leesburg, Va., thirteenth in doubles. The former Peabody youngster was eliminated in the nation-wide man-to-man tilting by Ted Drewes, rangy St. Louisan, who boasted the National Public Park crown from 1924 to 1927, inclusive.

TERRIFIC STRUGGLE

The tussle was a terrific affair in which the Pittsburgh youth was a victim of very lax officiating, the arbiter in the chair permitting Drewes to footfault repeatedly without, apparently, drawing down even threatening admonition.

As the Missouri luminary's infraction consisted in swinging his right foot into the court and, as his best stock in trade was his ability to follow service to the net, it may be imagined that, had the umpire been an official of experience and alertness, a different verdict might have been written, for it was obvious to observers that Drewes was well started toward the barrier before ever the ball left his racquet.

ENTRIES CLOSE JULY 22

Parks netmen of the Steel City area are urged to join Broida in quest of the municipal flagon—and fair contenders, too, are invited to seek the bowl now in custody of Mrs. Jean Artzberger, South Hills driver, who a twelve-month ago carried Olympia colors to the fore in the women's singles division.

A Pittsburgh parks tennis permit is the lone requisite for entrance, though prospective contestants are reminded that, according to rules for municipal mixing, players having right to access to private or club courts are barred from action.

Entries must be filed in writing on one of the special blanks printed on the Pittburgh Sun-Telegraph sports pages until the close of the list at midnight, Wednesday, July 22. No names will be taken by 'phone. Address communications to the Public Parks Tournament Editor, in care of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

MOORE VICTOR IN NET UPSET

BROOKLINE, Mass., July 14.—(AP.)—Harry Moore, 19, of White Plains, N. Y., provided the only upset in yesterday's opening rounds in the Longwood Bowl singles tennis tournament.

The University of Arizona freshman battered Arthur W. Ham, of Toronto, out of the tourney, upsetting the Canadian international player, 6-3, 4-6, 6-1 in a second round match.

Jan Kozeluh, attached to the Czechoslovakia legation in Washington, waded through his opening opposition in impressive fashion. He defeated Edward Underwood, of Boston, in his first round match 6-1, 6-2, but Jake Hess, Jr., hard-hitting Texan, ran him ragged in their second round clash, which was prolonged through 40 games, 9-7, 13-11.

The six players on the American seeding list, topped by Champion Johnny Doeg, were not hard pressed at any time during the opening afternoon's play. Doeg gained the third bracket by defeating T. M. Banks, Williams College player, 6-2, 6-3, and then subdued Walter Weld, Boston, 6-4, 6-3.

Two others in the tourney also have legs on the bowl, Wilmer Allison, the second seeded Texan, and Cliff Sutter, of New Orleans.

Allison defeated W. C. Thompson, Boston, 6-0, 6-4 in the first round and eliminated William Smyth, Englewood, N. J., 6-3, 6-2 in the second. Sutter's only victim was Draper Hill, of Boston, as he benefited by the default of Tom Jamsen, of Worcester.

BALTIMORE, July 14.—(AP.)—The National Amateur Athletic Union long distance swimming championships for women will be held here August 22, Ed Lollman, chairman of the South Atlantic Association, has announced. Individual and team contests over the two and one-half-mile route will be sponsored.

MOORE VICTOR IN NET UPSET

BUCS, PHILLIES IN TWIN BILL

the Quaker slugger is a hustler all the way. Arlett followed with a prodigious swat to center, but Forrest Jensen, subbing for the injured L. Waner, nailed the drive. Klein had started for second, but when he saw a catch was imminent, he hustled back toward the bag.

Klein tagged up and streaked toward second, but he saw he would be nailed, so he scooted back the other way and just beat the play. All of these eventualities were working toward the interest of the Phillies, for Hurst came along with a double to right center to score Klein with the only run of the game. Jensen all but caught the ball—he would catch the same difficult drive on many occasions, but he failed in this particular case and the tally was across.

Big Jim Elliott was just about as clever as Kremer, each pitcher allowing only five hits. But where the breaks frowned upon Frenchy they favored the giant southpaw.

Lloyd Waner was benched on account of a bad knee. There was a recurrence of an old sore spot, owing to a jam play in which he took part in Cincinnati Sunday. He may attempt to play in one game today.

Whitney and Mallon turned in a trick play in the sixth that may have saved the game for Elliott and the Quakers. George Grantham tripled to right center with one out, and it looked like a Pirate run as Fred Bennett pasted a hot liner toward left. Whitney leaped and tried for a one-hand catch, but the best he could do was cuff down the ball. The drive still would have been a single, but young Mallon was wandering around near the thirdsacker. The youngster picked up the ball, took a peep at Grantham, to see that he would not try to score, and then flung out Bennett.

WOMEN STARS PLAY TODAY AT SHANNOPIN

By VERN SWARTSFAGER

Their efforts at the Pittsburgh Field Club yesterday in the bo'ws, women golfers of the district today turned their attention to the fairways of the Shannopin Country Club, where another guest-day event is under way. Mrs. W. J. Laccock, chairman of the Shannopin committee, expects more than 150 to start, play having begun early this morning.

Yesterday Mrs. Frank E. Campbell, of the Stanton Heights Golf Club, West Penn champion, captured a splendid 89. Mrs. C. I. Wendt, of the home club, won the competition in the first division for Field Club members, with a fine 90—which was higher than her usual game. Mrs. Wendt and Mrs. L. C. Lewars tied for low net for members with net 81s.

Mrs. W. H. McCrady, of Edgewood, won low net in the first division for guests, her tally being 95-18—77. Mrs. W. L. Thunhurst, of Edgewood, won in the second division for visitors with a gross 106, while her net score of 79 also gave her low net. Mrs. A. S. Dayton, of Oakmont, was second with 111-29—82, and Mrs. Robert S. Coyle, of Nemacolin, was third with 108-25—83.

Mrs. Wyant, of Edgewood, won in the third flight for visitors, having a gross 112, while Mrs. Boyd, of Valley Heights, had low net, an 82. Mrs. E. K. Conneeley, of Oakmont, won the putting prize with an aggregate of 30.

Francis Lally, popular star, is to be the fourth man on Pittsburgh's team to the national public links championship, at St. Paul, August 4-8, as a result of his victory over John Pasikowski, 74 to 77, in their 18-hole playoff over the Schenley links yesterday. He will join Carl F. Kauffmann, Harry Ramsay and Carl Lunden on the team.

Lally and Pasikowski had tied at 134 for the 36-hole qualifying test. Ken Witherow, U. S. G. A. commissioner, says the boys will depart for Keller's course, venue for the title play, several days before the tourney opens.

The playoff cards:

Lally—Out	4	4	5	4	5	4	4	3	5	38
In	5	4	3	4	3	5	5	4	5	36—74
Pasikowski—Out	3	7	5	7	4	3	4	3	5	41
In	4	4	3	4	4	3	5	3	5	36—77

HERRERA JADICH

Bit of action during third round of main bout at Meyers Bowl last night in which Jadich broke Herrera's winning streak in local rings.

REFEREE GRAYBER

He floored Herrera as the first round ended and won the decision in 10 rounds. It was one of the best bouts in the history of the bowl.

TONY HERRERA FLOORED AND BEATEN

By HARRY KECK
Sports Editor

Tony Herrera, Mexican lightweight star, finally met his master in a Pittsburgh district ring last night after several seasons as a consistent winner in these parts. His vanquisher was Johnny Jadich, rangy, clever boxer and sharpshooting hitter, of Philadelphia, who dragged down the referee's decision, and a popular one, at the end of 10 rounds of bitter and bloody fighting in the Meyers Bowl, North Braddock. It was one of the best main bouts in the Bowl's history. One judge, L. K. Meininger, dissented, voting for Herrera, while Judge Jock Simco strung along with Referee Al Grayber.

It was a close fight, but Jadich merited the honors. He scored the only knockdown, flooring Tony heavily with a beautiful right cross to the jaw just as the bell ended the first round. The timekeeper did not have time to count, but it is certain that Tony would have taken a long toll, possibly of nine, if the session had not ended just then. He landed in a sitting position and rocked back to his shoulder blades from the force of the punch.

KNOCKDOWN CHANGES BOUT

Up to the moment Jadich landed this blow Tony had been confidently forcing the going and appeared to be in for another winning night. The wallop changed the entire complexion of the battle, however, for thereafter Herrera was wary of that right and Jadich seldom was able to land it cleanly, but it served as a threat, and, along with a good left hand, won the bout for its owner.

Jadich also won the second and third rounds, knocking a plaster loose from the bridge of Herrera's nose in the second. Jadich's right glove burst in the third round and the bout was held up at the end of the fourth round until another mitt was substituted. The fourth was Herrera's first winning round. In it, he took and maintained the offensive.

The fifth round was a hectic one for Herrera. Their heads bumped and he suffered the reopening of an old scalp wound, which bled freely during the remainder of the bout, and he also was wrestled to a sitting position along the ropes.

Tony came back to win the next two rounds, working on the body and forcing the fight, despite the fact that he was bleeding badly, not only from the head, but also the nose. The gore covered his opponent as well as himself.

GET OVATION AT FINISH

They fought on even terms in the eighth, Jadich carried the ninth and Herrera came back to win the tenth, in which Jadich, tiring badly, coasted.

Jadich won five rounds against four for Herrera and one even, turned in the only knockdown, did the sharper, if not heavier, hitting and was unmarked at the finish, while Tony was a bloody sight. The crowd gave both an ovation. Herrera weighed 137 and Jadich 134½ pounds at 3 p. m.

Indian Tiger West, of Charleroi, 159¾, outpunched Jack Tracey, Negro middleweight, of the North Side, 156, all of the way after the first round and finally knocked him out after 1 minute 49 seconds of the eighth and scheduled last round of the semi-final, put on after the main bout, Tracey being counted out as he was getting up from a left to the jaw. The bell had saved him in the preceding round after he had been floored three times, twice for nine. It was a tough punching battle all of the way, with Tracey having some good moments, but mostly bad ones.

ANDRUCCI WINNER

Andy Andrucci, of the East End, 130, packed too much experience for young Jimmy Reilly, of McKeesport, 134¼, and bested him throughout in the six-round second bout, while Referee Red Robinson stopped the opener at the end of the fifth round and declared it a draw with both Paul Balint, of the North Side, and Johnny Montebano, of Braddock, suffering from eye cuts. Montebano weighed 127¼ pounds and Balint 130.

Tommy Grant and A. C. Couch were the timers, Dr. M. R. Goldman the commission physician and Ray Eberle the announcer.

Herrera's defeat in the windup was only his second around here, the other having been on a foul to Phil Goldstein in the Bowl two seasons ago. He also boxed a draw with Joe Glick at Motor Square Garden, but knocked out Glick in a return bout, and also came back to win over Goldstein.

Tom Hanson meets Harry Collins in the heavyweight feature of an amateur boxing show under the auspices of the Pastorious A. C. of McKees Rocks, in the Twenty-seventh Ward A. C. open-air arena on the North Side tonight.

K. O. Kelly and Joe Walters, Negro middleweights, box the windup of a show at Franklin, Pa., Thursday night of next week.

Bruno Sala, of Donora, and Red Bush, of Cumberland, will headline the Elks' convention show at Cumberland, August 10. It will be an eight-round battle.

The Buck McTiernan-Jimmy Belmont fight is definitely on for next Monday night under the original conditions, whereby McTiernan will receive 30 per cent of the gate, despite his recent defeat by Ted Yarosz in their battle at Hickey Park, Millvale.

Boxing Commissioner Dr. W. D. McClelland last night ruled to this effect after a final meeting with the Meyers Bowl Club and Manager Bunny Buntach, acting for McTiernan. He suggested that Buntach accept a 5 per cent cut in his contract and when the latter refused ordered the match on as per the standing agreement. Due to the short time intervening before the date of the show, he put his foot down on the proposition that the club cancel the bout.

The commissioner said he took into consideration four factors in arriving at his decision:

1—That it was too late to arrange a new bout.

2—That McTiernan, on his record as a boxer and a drawing card, was entitled to consideration in his plea that his contract be permitted to stand.

3—That Belmont deserved the bout after it had been duly arranged.

COMMISSIONER ACTS

Dr. McClelland said that legally he had no right to ask McTiernan to accept a cut in pay, but he felt that morally, in view of the circumstances, he was justified in trying to arrange an adjustment. When Manager Buntach refused to accept a reduction there was nothing for the commissioner to do but to take a stand and order the match to proceed as signed. He said he feels certain the bout will prove one of the best attractions of the season here in view of the rivalry between the principals and the ballyhoo so far involved in the staging of it.

Meanwhile, Belmont, the shortender by a considerable margin when the bout originally was signed, has been installed a slight favorite in the early betting on the encounter in view of McTiernan's off-color showings recently. The bout figures to develop more partisan feeling than any local match that has been arranged in recent seasons.

Between Rounds

The card has been completed for the Jackie Rodgers-Johnny Erickson show at Hickey Park, Millvale, Thursday night. Buddy McArthur, McKeesport light-heavyweight, and Ted Ross, of Chicago, are in the eight-round semi-final. Jackie Murray, of the Hill, and Joey Spiegel, of Uniontown, will box the second bout, and Jackie Wilson, of Homewood, and Johnny Haggerty, of Lawrenceville, are in the opener.

Answer to query—T. J. H., McKeesport—Harry Greb and Gene Tunney fought five times, three times in New York, once in Cleveland and once in St. Paul.

Frankie Van, Cleveland's snappiest referee, who pleased the local fans while performing in an amateur show here more than a year ago, is going to apply for a license to work in Pittsburgh.

Charley Kolb, local businessman and former manager of boxers, leaves tomorrow to spend a week at Gus Wilson's training camp at Orangeburg, N. Y., at the latter's invitation. Mickey Walker is training there for his bout with Jack Sharkey.

Charley Jones, formerly of McKeesport, who has been residing in Louisville for a number of years, plans to return here permanently within a few weeks and will make his home on the North Side. He will bring his entire stable of fighters here, including Charley Baxter and Midget Mike O'Dowd. O'Dowd wants to box Jackie Rodgers here again, while Baxter is ready for any of the lightweights. Baxter meets Al DeRose in a 10-rounder in Louisville, Friday night.

Oil Industry Faces Acute Production Situation

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

THE OIL INDUSTRY is being forced to swallow some bitter pills in order to cure itself of excessive production. All producers are being hurt by record low prices but the independent operators claim that they are taking most of the pills and that the results may be fatal. The big producers blame the small operators for many of the industry's troubles and say that it serves them right. The present situation is rapidly shaping itself into a fight between the big companies and the independents.

On one side we have the Standard Oil group of companies. In practically the same class with them are other leading companies including such producers as Gulf, Dutch-Shell and Texas. On the other side are hundreds of small oil producers who are being forced to shut down operations as a result of recent price cuts in the East Texas and Oklahoma City fields.

Most of the big companies are well fortified financially and are fully integrated producers, refiners and marketers so that they are fully able to meet current trying conditions. Many of the small independents are facing financial ruin.

Prices at Low Levels

THE BIG COMPANIES, which buy most of the crude oil and whose lead is almost invariably followed in naming prices, have cut quotations in some fields to the lowest levels on record. They have done this to check the development of production in areas which already have a potential output far in excess of market requirements. If the price cuts are effective the petroleum industry as a whole may be materially helped. But even though the operation may be successful for the strong companies, a large number of the weak patients may die.

The big companies are letting low prices weed out the fit and the unfit in the industry. They charge that it has been impossible to put a sufficient check on production due to the difficulty in bringing a great number of small operators into line on proration agreements.

Imports Blamed

THE SMALLER OIL producers declare that the major companies are responsible for the plight of the oil trade since they have been large importers of foreign oil. They point to the fact that domestic output has been smaller than consumption in all but a few years and insist that a check on imports would quickly solve the troubles of the industry.

One group of independents has been actively campaigning for a higher tariff on oil in the belief that this would force the industry to use domestic crude oil almost exclusively and that excessive amounts of oil held in storage would be reduced.

Any attempt to place a high tariff on oil is being opposed by the larger companies, many of which depend on tidewater points for a large portion of their supply. In addition some of the leading companies are engaged in the production of oil in other countries on a large scale.

Proration Fails

THE OVERPRODUCTION of oil is not a new development. It has troubled the industry for several years. Widespread efforts to develop proration in the major fields appeared to be bringing the output into line until a short time ago when new fields were discovered. First the Oklahoma City pool threw the industry into a panic. Drastic limitations on output put this specter in the background. But this discovery was followed by the finding of new sources of supply in East Texas. These have caused the latest disturbance.

The developments leading up to the present acute situation in the oil industry will be reviewed in a series of articles to appear in future in this column.

INVESTORS ASK RAIL RATE RISE

WASHINGTON, July 14.—(AP.)—The danger that many millions of dollars of rail securities will become ineligible for life insurance, savings bank and other investment was impressed on the Interstate Commerce Commission by two security holders' committees, who urged that the railroads be granted their requested 15 per cent increase in freight rates.

The committees emphasized the decrease in rail earnings, from the five-year average of 2.12 times fixed earnings to ", predicted 1.27 times fixed earnings in 1931.

Bonds which do not earn 1.5 times fixed charges are ineligible for savings bank investment in New York state, and, the committees warned, will automatically be stricken from the eligible lists early in 1932 unless a marked appreciation develops, or unless the legal requirements are modified.

STOCK EXCHANGE TOPICS

A report this week that there is further strength in the iron and steel scrap markets at Pittsburgh, Detroit and Youngstown is especially encouraging as it continues last week's firmness. There is now some real basis for saying that consumers of scrap are not expecting lower prices. Bids submitted on railroad tonnages at Pittsburgh were 50 cents a ton higher than those made a month ago. The holiday period caused some holding up of shipments, especially at Chicago, but this situation is regarded as temporary, and local dealers anticipate a better market in Chicago before long.

A large number of the floor traders are doing less now than they were only a few weeks ago. This is because of a growing inclination to wait for news which will affect the market. Although many insist that the next incentive will come through domestic developments, it is evident from the comments heard that conditions abroad still are being watched closely. Washington also is being looked to for something to stimulate confidence, but it is admitted that at the moment no one has any intimation as to what might come from the capital. The waiting attitude of these traders is reflected in the action of the market almost every day.

Railroad stocks are being watched closely again, because on numerous occasions since 1929 this group has pointed the way for price movements in the general list. There was considerable selling in the rails in recent sessions because of disappointment over the fate of the petition for higher freight rates. At present, there is more talk of the rate situation than in the past. Those who had hoped for some emergency increase admit that there is little prospect of the roads getting relief until late in the year. By that time, the major portion of the fall traffic will have been moved. Indications have come from the Interstate Commerce Commission that the petition is not considered an emergency measure, and under the circumstances, action will be delayed until hearings have been completed. These will require considerable time, and may run far into the fall.

Speculative buying has been coming in Continental Baking preferred at times recently, due to predictions in some quarters that the current $8 a share annual dividend rate will be maintained. The yield on the stock at current levels is attractive. It is contended that because of improvement in earnings and a strong financial position, the directors are not likely to consider disturbing the payments on the preferred stock.

The Exchange Buffet Corporation on July 31 will pay stockholders a quarterly dividend of 37½ cents a share on the 250,000 common shares. This will be the one hundred and twenty-fifth dividend on the issue since incorporation of the company in April, 1902. During this period, the company's earnings have risen slowly to a record high level in the year ended April 30, 1930. Last year, there was a moderate decline in revenues, and sales so far in the current fiscal year are behind those of a year ago.

The J. C. Penney Company is doing well. There was a decrease of 6.3 per cent in dollar sales last month from June, 1930, but this compared with a drop of 9.9 per cent in May. For the six months ended June 30, the total was $77,360,000, or 10.5 per cent under a year ago, and only 7.4 per cent below the corresponding 1929 period. Interests in the company consider this showing satisfactory in view of general business conditions. It is said that comparisons with last year will be more favorable from now on.

Great Lakes Car Requirements Off

The Great Lakes Regional Advisory Board estimates freight car requirements for the third quarter will be 472,968 cars against 598,443 cars in the third quarter, 1930.

Action Needed

ULTIMATE USER NOT HOLDING UP TRADE

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER

The wider public, the ultimate users of products, are not holding up the parade of business. As a matter of fact, consumers are seemingly in a better frame of mind than trade executives. This difference of viewpoint is shown in the tendency of trades, supplying consumers' needs, to do relatively far better than intermediate industries, such as the construction trades, which cater to business itself.

Mr. Rukeyser

Current statistics indicate that the impetus for slow and gradual recovery will spring from the humble need of a wide array of consumers to replace worn out apparel, shoes and household supplies.

GROWTH PARALYZED

This process will in time change the viewpoint of industrial producers, and lead them to decide to make capital expenditures for plant improvement and expansion. The impulse toward growth has been paralyzed as the world focusses its attention on seeming overproduction. What seems to be excess capacity in times of acute depression, when the public is using only subnormal quantities, will take on a different hue when normal conditions return.

There will, of course, be great limitations on consumer buying power as long as 6,000,000 persons remain unemployed. A short cut toward a return of an economic equilibrium would be through a vast program of capital expenditures by the federal government for public works, which would redeem millions of unemployed for unproductive idleness.

Meantime, the composition and fabric of business are temporarily at least changing. Activities directly associated with the needs of consumers are bulking relatively larger in the composite statistics of business. The heavy industries, which depend on the decision of leaders to engage in construction activities, are lagging.

CONDITIONS ALTERED

In the decade which closed last year, the public had become used to the predominance of a different kind of business activity, in which the chief signals of prosperity included rising activity in office and apartment house construction, rapidly expanding capital investment in public utilities, and new high records in steel and copper production. The great stimulus to trade came from supplying corporations with capital goods and with raw materials. The newer trend—and this may last for a year or two—is for the producers and vendors of consumption goods to be in the van. Wool, silk, rubber, leather, department stores sales—these are likely to be the early harbingers of recovery.

The stocks of merchandise in the hands of consumers have been to a measurable extent depleted in two years of declining business, and some replacement now has proved necessary.

STOCK MARKET EXTREMELY SLUGGISH

List Develops Rather Heavy Tone—Bankers Inclined to Await German Bank Move

NEW YORK, July 14.—(AP.)—World financial markets reflected the paralyzing influences of acute banking situation in Central Europe today.

Security trading in the New York market was extremely sluggish, with stocks developing a rather heavy tone, and bonds scarcely active enough to establish a trend. Wall street was only partly reassured by the statement issued by the World Bank at Basel, and the renewal of the $100,000,000 loans to the Reichsbank. Bankers are inclined to await developments on the reopening of the German banks before passing judgment on the situation.

Changes in much of the stock list were limited to small fractions, but several prominent issues sold off a point or two.

Banking opinion regarding the German crisis remained highly confused. The renewal of the $100,000,000 credit which was to expire Thursday had been accepted as a matter of course.

The spreading of the banking crisis to Hungary was pointed to here as showing the need for as early relief as can be arranged.

German bonds were again under pressure, but the government issues were fairly well supported, making only moderate declines. In foreign exchanges, trading in the German mark remained at a standstill, with quotations nominally between 22 and 23 cents. Foreign currencies generally showed a better tone, with the French franc and the Dutch florin in some demand.

The marked improvement in the shoe and leather business in recent months has reached a point where increased shoe prices are now being considered in the trade.

GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, July 14.—Grains scored price upturns early today, helped by comparative firmness of the Liverpool wheat market and of New York stocks. German financial developments were given a bullish construction and there was a letup in selling pressure on cereals. Opening unchanged to ½ cent higher, wheat later held near to the initial limits. Corn started unchanged to ⅞ advance and continued to point upward.

OIL REDUCTION PACT LOOMS

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 14.—(AP.)—Gov. Murray promised an executive order for shutting down Oklahoma's oil fields as a step toward higher prices if Texas will join in the movement.

He took the position an Oklahoma shutdown would be useless if the great East Texas fields remain open.

The Texas Legislature, two-thirds of its members pledged to vote for oil proration, was to convene in special session today. Optimistic views of the Texas situation were taken both by the Oklahoma Governor and Cicero Murray, chairman of the Oil States Advisory Committee.

Meanwhile, the Standish Oil Company, buying agent of the Phillips Petroleum Company, announced its intention of retaining prices in the face of recent reductions.

Says Installment Debt of U. S. Small

CHICAGO, July 14.—C. C. Hanch, general manager of the National Association of Finance Companies, said that less than 3 per cent of the annual income of the United States was "mortgaged" by installment sales.

Hanch reported that the exact amount was 2.8 per cent, as shown by an analysis of the installment debt of the nation, prepared by Milan V. Ayres, analyst for the association, as compared with "off-hand estimates by uninformed people as high as 20 per cent."

Consider Raising Footwear Prices

ST. LOUIS, July 14.—Brisk buying in the hide markets in all trading centers in face of current advances in hides has caused shoe manufacturers to seriously consider the advisability of an upward revision in prices of footwear, which were based upon cost estimates of raw materials previous to radical changes which currently have taken place. Whether this will materialize is largely dependent on volume of orders that will be secured during the next few weeks.

FINAL RULE ON ARMOUR & CO.

WASHINGTON, July 14.—(INS.)—Final disposition of the stock yards interest of Armour & Co., Chicago meat packers, was approved by Supreme Court Justice Jennings Bailey today.

Attorneys for Armour said the company's interests in the General Stock Yards Corporation, which holds interest in several stock yards, and in the Jersey City Stock Yards, have been sold to the Armforth Corporation, incorporated under the laws of Delaware.

Disposition of the stock yards interest of the packing company was made under the decree entered several months ago by Justice Bailey, amending the anti-trust consent decree to permit the packers to engage in wholesale food business.

Motor Industry Passed Low Point

NEW YORK, July 14.—(AP.)—The low point in the automobile industry was reached late last year, and better than seasonal trend in production will become apparent before the end of this year, an analysis of the motor industry by the Brookmire Economic Service says.

Production in the last half of 1931 probably will exceed that of the corresponding period of 1930, and the total volume of business in 1932 may be expected to show substantial improvement over either of the previous two years, according to the survey.

Kitty Advised to Sue Thad For Breach of Promise

CHAPTER XVI.

"What is the trouble, Katie?" my chum, Viola, demanded, sitting on the edge of the bed and putting her arm about me as I shook with sobs.

"I don't want to live," I whimpered.

"What has happened to you?"

I couldn't speak at the moment.

"Have you been a fool?" She asked the question softly.

"Yes—an awful fool," I managed to say.

"Oh! She exclaimed and then, after a hushed moment, "Was it Thad Parsons?"

"Wha-a-at?" I screamed.

"What do you think?" I demanded.

"You just said—"

"Thad got married yesterday—and that's everything wrong with me—isn't it enough? Oh Viola, how could you think—think—"

Viola read the short article about the marriage of M. Thad Parsons and Miss Arline Sargent, daughter of the late Kirk X. Sargent, of New York and Newport.

She dropped the paper and stared at me.

"Well, I'm a so-and-so!" she cried.

CORA'S VIEWS REPEATED

"And then, to my surprise, she hugged me.

"Gosh, but you had me cold for a minute. I thought—you said you'd been a fool—naturally—"

"I was a fool to think that an aristocrat like Thad Parsons would ever marry a little dress model—especially after he took me about so much, made such passionate love and yet never once mentioned marriage," I declared.

Viola, beside me, had a comforting effect.

"It's tough, Katie — mighty tough. You had every reason to believe he would marry you. But it could have been worse. At least you have nothing to hate yourself for."

"Well, I'm not going to die of a broken heart," I said.

"Yes you would, if you really loved him. You were just dazzled by his riches," Viola disputed.

That hurt. My sister Cora had said the same thing, repeatedly.

Synopsis

To just play around, always to have a gay time, is all that is worth while in life, according to the belief of beautiful Katherine Mason, a dress model who has jilted her poor lover, Peter Thompson, in the assurance that wealthy and aristocratic Thad Parsons will marry her. He gives her every reason to believe this. She turns down Forrest Malvern, a rich man of 40, who was once the "sugar daddy" of her friend, Dolly Hawkins, who disappeared. Katherine's roommate finds her in tears, a newspaper crushed in her hands.

Now Go On

What would Cora say now? What would Peter say?

As for the others, I didn't care much.

"Well, there's one thing, Viola," I said. "Thad sure married an awful little snob even if she is a society girl—" and then I began to laugh.

"That's the girl!" Viola cried. "Getting let down like that is like pulling a tooth. It hurts like heck for a moment and then you feel better."

"It isn't that." I laughed at the way she put it. "I just thought of Curt Lawlor—he was crazy about her—remember?"

CONGRATULATIONS

"Oh, that's the girl is it, that is the Arline Sargent?—she was trying to win Mr. Lawler right under his wife's eyes. I'll bet Mrs. Lawlor will be glad. She was awfully nice to us out at her place."

I started to dress, but Viola stopped me. Perhaps she was afraid I was bluffing and might do something desperate.

"I'm going to send a wire of congratulations," I told her.

"Congratulations—and thanks for all of your letters."

"Letters? Did he write many?"

"A couple dozen, last year, when he was at Palm Beach and from Bar Harbor and Canada—wonderful letters."

"Would you show me one?"

"You may have all of them," I said, carelessly.

"What is on your mind?"

She took what I had written. The newspaper story had mentioned Thad's hotel and I knew that the wire would be forwarded if he left.

I put on a kimono and sat huddled up by the window, and my thoughts weren't so very sweet or soothing as I looked out on the street with the remnants of muddy snow and ice.

VISIONS FUTURE

A thousand miles away was Thad Parsons — in a sunny warm land, where fringed palms waved against the starlight and probably a great moon made a silver tapering ladder across the water. Thad was there, having his honeymoon with that snobbish Arline Sargent—the gat-eyed girl who so boldly made love to Curt Lawlor almost under his wife's eyes.

She was getting away with it. Thad was happy.

And here was I up North. Tomorrow I would go to work, and tomorrow and tomorrow and tomorrow—

I found myself crying again. I had sense enough to know that self pity was the worst thing for me. And I didn't want Viola to see me break down again.

But I was hurt—terribly hurt.

So far as I could see I had loved Thad. He was handsome and gay and splendid company. He was generous, he took me out to play around, and he had always been gentlemanly.

It looked to me as though my playing around days were over.

Work and more work, and most of the men who wanted to take me out were the sort who thought they had a first and second mortgage on a girl if she let them buy a dinner for her.

I saw Viola down below struggling against the wind as she crossed the street to our apartment block. I hurried to the bathroom and washed away the second lot of tears, used some powder and, throwing myself into our one easy chair, I grabbed up a colored comic page and put on a sort of grin as Viola came in.

SUGGESTS LAW SUIT

"Reading the funnies, eh? I guess you'll live," she said, pinching my cheek as she passed to the closet with her coat.

"I want to read one of those letters—I've been thinking it over," she said, as she came back to me.

I went to the closet, got down my hat box and took out the whole package of them.

"Whoops, my dear, 28 of them—may I select one at random?"

She rested her finger against the edges of the envelopes, opened her eyes and pulled the letter out from the packet.

She grinned, she did a little war dance, she stopped and read aloud:

"Never again so long as we live shall I drift so far away from the only girl worth while to me."

"Sit down," she said, pushing me back in the big chair. She drew up a hassock and sat at my knees, still gripping the package of letters Thad Parsons had written to me.

"Katie—I didn't send the wire yet—I got to thinking it over—it wouldn't look well; he might use it to show that you didn't care and wired him congratulations."

"What are you talking about?"

"These letters, my dear; they are worth a fortune to you—in a breach of promise case——" She shook her finger impressively at me.

"Sue him Katie—sue him for a million dollars!" she said solemnly.

DAILY SHORT STORY

Getting Square

Typographical Error Causes Much Embarrassment

Howard Brockman, aspiring to be a music critic, was delighted when he had a chance to have two full months at it. The managing editor of the Morning Sphere had called out to Howard, "Hey, Brockey, you pinch hit for Elder while he's in Europe."

Mr. Elder was the music critic on The Sphere.

Howard was delighted. He had been hoping he might be asked to substitute for Elder while that dignified critic was abroad.

"Great," Howard had said.

"You can't do an awful lot of damage during these two summer months," said the M. E., "there isn't anything of importance in the music line in the summer season."

Managing editors are like that.

Howard grinned. There was to be the annual musical festival in Worcester, and he would be sent to cover that. Also, there were always other things, revivals of old musical comedies and operettas, summer concerts and the like.

Perhaps, to square it after the gentle knock, was why the managing editor added, "Sign the stuff if you like."

"Thanks, Chief; think I'd better not sign my stuff until I get into the swing of it better."

"I imagine it would be safer. Some of those bassos, and even the contraltos, are rather husky—they might get after you."

Howard got along quite well. He knew music, was fond of it, and had studied music criticism for years. He had covered minor events for Elder on the paper. Even the big annual music festival at Worcester didn't feaze him. He covered it with credit.

AIMS TO PLEASE

When Mrs. Varndan gave a concert at her country place for the benefit of some Kentucky mountain school, Howard attended in the capacity of critic.

There were many widely known musicians, and a number not so widely known.

Howard naturally wanted to impress the wealthy Mrs. Varndan. She was a patron of music, she understood it, and if he could please her it would help him.

The way to please her, Howard decided, was to give a straightforward criticism. If any of the talent fell a little short, Howard would say so. Mrs. Varndan would certainly know good music from inferior and she wouldn't have much of an opinion of "The Sphere's" account of her concert if it praised inferior talent.

Helen Trasker was down for a song. Howard Brockman had never heard of Helen Trasker. Few others in the music world had heard of her. Miss Trasker was one of the supposedly star pupils at the local conservatory of music.

Howard noticed one thing: That this Miss Trasker was a mighty pretty little girl. But this was a matter of ear, not eye.

Howard was there to judge voice, timbre, tonal qualities and the whole gamut of phrases that are confusingly technical to a layman and help to give an "air" to a critic's work.

Helen Trasker did have a nice voice, quite a powerful voice, and her breathing seemed to be unusually well handled for one so young.

MILD CRITICISM

However, Howard believed that the girl did not enunciate clearly. There seemed to be a slurring over vowels and a lack of getting the words over. Howard was of the modern school; if there were words to a song he believed the words should be sung as clearly as one would speak them.

And so when it came to mention of the song by Miss Helen Trasker, Howard pounded this out on his typewriter:

"Miss Trasker, an extremely pretty and prepossessing young lady, has a voice of good power and wide range for a student. Unfortunately, she lacks facundity, a fault she must struggle to overcome if she hopes to achieve any great success."

Nothing so very bad about that bit of criticism. It was true enough, because Miss Trasker had been rather frightened; it was her first appearance among so many really noted ones in the musical world.

With Miss Helen Trasker it was different.

In this paragraph criticism she was at first delighted to read that the critic considered her to be pretty and prepossessing. She was even more pleased at what had been written about her voice of good power and wide range.

And then came the line stating that she lacked something. The something that she was supposed to lack was not "facundity," as Howard had written it, but "fecundity," as the typesetter made it, read and the proofreader let slip past.

She asked herself almost the same question that Howard had asked the head of the proofroom. What had "fecundity" to do with her singing? What business was it of any critics whether she was fecund or otherwise?

It did not occur to Helen Trasker that there had been an error, that there might be another word almost like that which would have explained matters.

"I know a nice young man who works on The Sphere," Alice said, "he isn't the music critic, but he would tell me who he is. His name is Howard Brockman."

"Find out for me who wrote this awful thing," Helen said, with flashing eyes, "and so help me, I'll get square with him if it takes me forever!"

Alice said that she would find out.

The first time she saw Howard Brockman after this was at a revival of "The Chimes of Normandy."

INTRODUCED TO SINGER

And yet he didn't want to get away from there!

It seemed to be an unusual situation. Howard Brockman became deeply interested in Helen Trasker. She was far more beautiful than he had thought when he heard her sing. There was something about her that seemed to thrill him.

As for Helen, she openly admired Howard. As they chatted Helen asked, suddenly, "Who is the music critic of the Morning Sphere, Mr. Brockman?"

"His name is Elder, Carlton Elder," Howard said, truthfully enough.

"Some day, very soon, I am going to meet him—I have something to say to him."

"Er—could I—er—take a message for you, Miss Trasker?"

"Just now," Howard said, "Mr. Elder is on his way to Europe."

Elder had been in Europe nearly a month. Howard was a quick thinker. If he said that Elder was in Europe, Helen might ask when he went and who wrote the criticism about her. As it was, she believed it was Elder.

"I shall see him when he gets back," she said.

"Better let me see him for you," Howard suggested, nervously.

Both girls laughed and Howard knew what they were laughing about, but had to pretend ignorance.

All through the summer the romance of Howard Brockman and Helen Trasker flourished and flamed. They became engaged, finally, for Mr. Elder had resigned to live in England and Howard had been given his place.

Only a week before Howard and Helen were married, Helen read something in the monthly musical magazine, the Scale, about Howard's appointment as music critic for the Sphere. And there was this line:

HOWARD PROSPERS

"Mr. Brockman took up Mr. Elder's duties early in June, when the former went abroad, and in August he was given Mr. Elder's desk when that gentleman resigned."

Helen did some rapid thinking and figuring. Her appearance had been in July. It must have been Howard who wrote that criticism about her lack of fecundity!

Should she get square now—by breaking the engagement?

She couldn't. She loved Howard.

"You do not enunciate quite clearly enough," he said.

So, that was it!

It was a nice little wedding and they had a pleasant trip and settled down in a pretty suburban bungalow.

Howard prospered. He was writing for several musical magazines and working for a producer, listening to applicants for singing parts.

He simply had to prosper because there was to be a "blessed event." It would happen in the spring of their second year of married life.

It did happen in the spring. Howard was waiting for word. He got it—three baby boys!

When they let him in, he eyed the three tiny babies and went over to Helen, who reached up her arms. He kissed her and she said:

"Well, I got square, didn't I?"

"For what you wrote about me—saying that I lacked fecundity!"

Let's Snap Out of It!

Emerson B. Knight, director of the consumer research division of R. L. Polk & Co., city directory publishers, gave the Chamber of Commerce yesterday a picture of economic conditions in Pittsburgh—a clear, sharp photograph made with the most accurate lens obtainable.

And we find, when confronted with a true likeness, that the pictures at which we have been gazing in recent months are highly imaginative paintings—distorted daubs, done in colors that are far too dark and gloomy.

We have been told before that there is nothing fundamentally wrong with business, that "hard times" are due to a state of mind; but the truth of the assertion was not brought home to Pittsburghers by previous commentators so forcefully as it has been by Mr. Knight, who has as proof of his statement not mere hope or conjecture or estimate, but hard facts and figures obtained by hundreds of careful investigators from thousands of Pittsburgh families.

By asking questions of the responsible heads of families, in connection with the compilation of the city directory, light was obtained on 90 different aspects of the business situation. The light dispels the bugaboo that has been worrying so many businessmen. It reveals, not widespread poverty and unemployment, but a generally healthy condition.

The first figures tabulated come from a zone of low buying power, a district inhabited by people in modest circumstances, skilled and unskilled laborers. Here, if anywhere, one would suppose, there would be an army of men out of work, a multitude of people burdened with debt.

On the contrary the figures show from one to six wage earners employed today and earning money in 93 per cent of the families. They show 58 per cent of the families free from any obligations to make payments on installment purchases. Of those who are making installment payments more are using the plan to buy homes than for any other purpose.

It is a psychosis, a morbid fear, and not anything wrong with the mechanism, that has slowed down the wheels of commerce and industry.

There is no reason to be afraid.

Sunday Play for Tots

Children Require Recreation on the First Day of the Week as Well as on Other Days.

The Department of Public Works has done a creditable thing in opening 35 of the 120 playgrounds in the city to supervised recreation for children on Sunday afternoons.

And there is no need to be in the least apologetic about it, nor to explain that care will be taken not to annoy the neighbors.

Children require recreation on Sunday just as on other days, and the people of Pittsburgh approve of harmless Sunday recreation, as was shown by the five-to-one vote, in the Sun-Telegraph's postcard poll, in favor of the repeal of the Blue Law.

Healthy normal people do not object to the prattle and shouts of tots at play in public playgrounds on Sunday or any other day. They like it.

Infant Prodigies

As Rare as Old Ones.

Infant prodigies are "the bunk." So says Sir James Irvine, vice chancellor of St. Andrews University in Scotland, and an educator of world renown. Sir James tells you further that men do not begin to think until they are 24 years old at least, and usually not until they are 28.

Young artists and boys who go into the ministry or priesthood, Sir James declares, blossom prematurely. They are mentally productive when 24 or less. Chemists, scientists and poets may begin to show signs of intelligence at 26 or 27, but the average man waits another year or two before his brain really begins to function.

Sir James, perhaps, has forgotten Napoleon, who thought to some purpose at 20; or William Pitt, Prime Minister of England at 23; or John Stuart Mill, who knew the Greek alphabet at two and taught the classics to his younger brothers and sisters at nine. But these are exceptions. In fact, it would be harder to prove that men begin to think at the age of 28. Until they are 70 or more, most of them are too busy, and after that they don't need to.

Painless Reducing

An Old Balkan Custom.

Jim Londos, interviewed the other day, explained how he kept his waistline down to the dimensions demanded by his onerous labors as a wrestling champion.

If you are interested in reducing, we pass the news on to you here as a health hint.

Mr. Londos, it seems, wraps a strip of flannel a foot wide around his middle before he sits down to breakfast. When the flannel feels uncomfortably tight, he stops eating. He goes for a walk with the band still on, but removes it when he returns. He dons it again for lunch, and for subsequent meals. It is an infallible check against overeating, he says—better than all the Hollywood diets ever invented.

"The more you eat," Mr. Londos points out, "the more your stomach stretches, and in the case of a man or woman getting fat it keeps on stretching and you keep on eating to fill the gap."

The use of the flannel band to counteract this vicious circle is an old Balkan custom, according to its sponsor. It has been handed down from father to son and from mother to daughter for generations, and has virtually done away with "bay windows" among the inhabitants of that part of Europe.

What! No Moratorium for the Poor Girl?

Let us transfer our mind for a moment from the everlasting "mazuma" to that dread, weird and painful experience of Mazepa.

There is no need to retell the story of Mazepa Koledinsky, carelessly printed with two "Ps," "Mazeppa," by the poet.

You will notice the resemblance between the careers of the unfortunate hetman of the Cossacks, favorite of the youthful Czar, Peter the Great, and our own little lady, "America's Prospects."

Mazepa, the Cossack, really deserved all that happened to him. He shouldn't have had that intrigue with the Polish lady, and her husband served him right when he tied Mazepa (one p, please) to the back of a wild horse, and sent him off into the barren steppe.

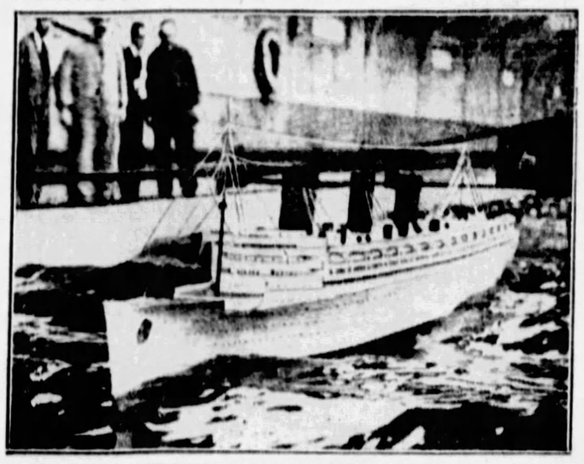
That should have been a warning to Mazepa, but he wasn't satisfied, and when Charles the Twelfth came wandering in from Sweden, he forgot all the kindness of the young Czar, who had allowed him to eat at his own table, and sided with Charles. And that was the end of his career.

Our little lady has never had any intrigue with anybody, Polish, Lithuanian, Russian, United States or Hindu. She has always been loyal, attending to her own business, and now look at her taking this ride.

It is enough to make you weep.

If Youth Could Have It

A Test for Future Troubles and Storms.



SMALL MODEL OF A GIGANTIC STEAMSHIP TESTED FOR FUTURE TROUBLE.

An ingenious device produces waves on the water, regulated to give exactly the conditions under which the ship would cross the ocean, with a heavy gale blowing.

The boat, as you see it now, is undergoing exactly the experiences that the big ship, 1,000 feet long, will have to undergo, when she fights a 60-knot gale of wind on the Atlantic.

This test tank and small model of the big ship, with waves adjusted, enables engineers and builders to detect mistakes, correct them, and make the boat what it ought to be.

What would parents and teachers give if they could provide some such test tank for children and for students?

Boys are sent to school, and then to college. Everything is made smooth for them. The books are there, the teachers are there, the food, the clothing, the soft bed, the warm, well-ventilated rooms for studying and sleeping.

The football field, the gymnasium, the swimming tank, everything is ready. Life seems one lovely, well-prepared pleasure trip.

THEN COMES REALITY.

Perhaps some genius will invent a mental test tank for boys and girls that will prepare them for real life, as this test tank prepares the big steamship for the real ocean.

Marry-Go-Round

Lovers—and Others

A man has reached the Age of Discretion when he decides that his wife and his cook are the only important women in his life.

* * *

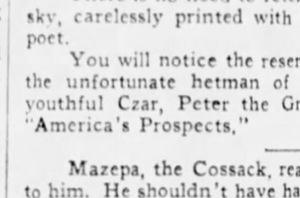
* * *

You can always tell when a man has been on a particularly wild whoopee party, by the austere virtue of his pronouncements against liquor and women next morning.



The trouble with most of these "young love-matches" is that so many people rush into them without even a dictionary to tell them what love IS.

* * *

When the divorce comes out, all her friends say, "Why did she ever take him?" and all his friends say, "How did she ever get him?"

* * *

Nature endowed woman with beauty, grace, intuition and tenderness—and then the devil spoiled everything by giving her a tongue.

* * *

Sometimes a girl with a scientific training and a highbrow education gets over it sufficiently to marry almost as well as if she had stayed at home from college and spent her time in the beauty parlors.

The modern girl is the sort of optimist who believes that the more kisses she gives a man at retail, the more he will want to acquire an option on them at wholesale.

* * *

* * *

Alas, if the first kiss could only last—or the last could only be like the first.

Isn't It So?

Prosperity and vanity are often lodgers together.

Some people yell for forest protection and then drive out in the woods and destroy all the wild flowers they can find.

Another optimist is the man who marries a waitress and thinks she is going to give the kind of service for love that she did for money.

COSMIC OR COMIC RAYS?

By Archibald Henderson

The discoveries within recent years regarding the silent, mighty force coming in to us from the remotest depths of interstellar space, constitute the most astounding and revolutionay findings of the present century in astrophysics. Indeed, the conclusions arrived at have been so spectacular on the one hand and so encouraging on the other that considerable doubt has been expressed in some quarters regarding the justness of those conclusions.

At this time, then, there are two schools of thought, regarding cosmic radiation. One represents the utmost optimism, the other the utmost pessimism, regarding the future of the universe. Sir James Jeans represents the latter school, and sees the universe, according to the second law of dynamics, gradually breaking down until finally matter will have disintegrated and become burned to ashes, and all space will be filled with a pale glow, something like starlight. As he phrases it in his effective way: Mass is converted into radiant energy, but that process is nowhere reversible. Matter will thus ultimately be all converted into radiation—i. e., it will simply disappear . . . Thus, observation and theory agree that the universe is melting away into radiation. Our position is that of polar bears on an iceberg that has broken loose from its icepack surrounding the pole and is inexorably melting away as the iceberg drifts to warmer latitudes and ultimate extinction.

On the other hand stands the famous American physicist, Robert Andrews Millikan, with a theory diametrically opposed to that of Sir James Jeans. It happens to be an optimistic theory, and if the conclusions arrived at by Millikan are correct, then this theory points towards the existence of a beneficient guardian of the universe.

When the first announcements were made regarding cosmic rays, there was considerable skepticism regarding them among scientists. Indeed, not a few scientists expressed their absolute disbelief in cosmic rays. They would have preferred to name them "comic" rays. Hoffman in Germany, Swann in America, expressed strong doubt of their cosmic origin.

It appears that McLennan and Rutherford, as far back as 1903, discovered certain radiations near the earth's surface so penetrating that they were capable of passing through thick screens of lead. A long series of investigations followed, on the part of Hess, Kolhoerster, and Millikan, at first carried on by means of electroscopes sent up in pilot balloons. Later Millikan, assisted by others, made studies of the effects of these rays at great depths in mountain lakes at very high altitudes. He came to the surprising conclusion that these cosmic rays are produced by definite and constantly recurring atomic transformations involving very much greater energy changes than any occurring in radioactive processes. Just where these changes occur is not certainly known. Millikan thinks they occurr in some infinitely remote abysses of interstellar or intergalactic space where the pressures and temperatures are close to absolute zero.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS

A Pearl

It lay within its satin nest,
Of all Earth's gems the loveliest,
And many, passing, looked thereon
And, "Ah!" men said, "Where will it go,
To grace a hand as white as snow,
Or on an ivory throat to rest,
Like rose-petal to petal to prest?"

Wealth purchased it, a watch was set
Always about the pearl, and yet
From beauty's ownership a thief
Soon stole the gem; his triumph brief,
It traveled on from hand to hand,
By secret channels, land to land.
And ever lovelier than a star,
Its fame was voiced afar, afar.
It crossed strange temple mysteries;
It heard the litany of love,
This pearl, unchanged where it might rove,
For always, fairer than the day,
It went upon its changeful way;
Until at last by some mischance
It fell where fountain waters dance,
Thence to a gutter's filthy swirl;
But still a pearl, a matchless pearl!

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

The worst thing about growing old is that everyone tries to be nice to you. Which is enough to turn even the finest human into a general nuisance.

You've seen it happening. Fine men and women who have been good scouts all their lives. Had the usual failings, of course. Fibbed, boasted, pouted, loafed, started rows, made fools of themselves—but, as long as they were 20, 30 or 40, folks treated them normally. Criticized and contradicted them. Razzed them. Told them where to head in. Put up a battle when they got too rambunctious. All of which kept them sensible, simple and regular.

Then along came the Fatal Fifties and everyone else decided they were Getting Old . . . and "age must be respected." So the criticism and the razzing stopped. There were no more battles. No matter what they said . . . no matter how unfair or disagreeable or silly or lazy they became . . . everyone agreed with them and excused them. Flattered them. Gave them the best seat. Shielded them from worry and unpleasantness.

Then what happened? Exactly what would have happened if they had received such unwholesome consideration and exemption at 20, 30 or 40. THEY BECOME PAMPERED PESTS . . . . so selfish, opinionated and generally onery that everyone secretly prayed they'd die pronto.

And, as a matter of fact, they actually did begin to die as soon as this old-age coddling started. For by that coddling they were cut off from the things that keep men alive and interested in life—from competition and constructive criticism and all the rude, stimulating human adventure.

All of which is both pitiful and idiotic. There is no reason why any normal, intelligent human being of 50, 60 or 70 should not be treated like a regular person. He's as able to stand an occasional bawling out as he ever was, and he needs it just as much.

IT'S AS DANGEROUS TO PAMPER YOURSELF AT 65, OR ALLOW YOURSELF TO BE PAMPERED, AS AT 25.

Age should be respected only when it deserves respect. A man does not merit respect merely because he has reached his sixtieth birthday. That birthday represents no heroic achievement. As a matter of fact, he doesn't like being 60. He would infinitely have preferred staying 20. And, chances are, he's never had a new thought, nor committed a noteworthy act, since he was 20. Then why respect him because he has accumulated 40 years of peeve, prejudice, hardened arteries and fallen arches?

Personally, my constant prayer is that people won't be nice to me when I grow old. For I've noticed that nothing demoralizes me more than a lot of admiration, sympathy and politeness. Immediately my ego swells up like a Zeppelin and I want to hog the whole hangar. If anyone makes things sweet and easy for me, I try to get by with murder. And generally succeed.

Don't respect old age. Respect is no favor. It is often a tragic handicap. If you really love age and wish to serve it, give it a chance to stay young. Treat it as you'd treat an active equal. TREAT IT REGULAR.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. MUNDY

Every time you get a little ahead something happens, you say

In the stores prices are down a little, but you can't take advantage of them because you are financially short.

But when society means competition in seeing who can get up the most elaborate entertainment it becomes a contest and loses its friendly basis.

Society should mean a generous, friendly feeling of give and take in the interests of community or congenial group gathering.

When it becomes a burden, when it is a temptation to spend more than personal conditions warrant, it takes character to stay out of it and save money.

Haven't you noticed that it is the men with strong character who make the largest honest accumulations?

ON THE ATLANTIC

By O. O. McIntyre

AT SEA, July 14.—We were awakened this morning by the knock of a courier bringing a spray of bright spring flowers from Chief Purser Villar. A sun in magnificence was splattering a calm sea with dancing light. The ship moves steadily with a rhythmic sway. I'm glad I came—tra, la.

From the viewpoint of curiosity, the most interesting passenger aboard, it would seem, is Gloria Swanson. She gives the celebrity spark to a list composed chiefly of Mr. and Mrs. Kahns, Mr. and Mrs. O'Hanrihans, the Comte B. d'Escayrac and valet and the usual ship nomenclature.

Edna Ferber, the novelist, is also listed. We happened to be fellow voyagers on the same ship last summer. I hope there will be no talk. Skimming through the "liste des passagers" I also note Miss Anne Morgan, Helena Rubenstein and, very appropriately, Mr. Sturgeon J. Fysche.

I asked Tatibouet, the steward for suggestions as to breakfast. He indulged a typical Gallic shrug and said Americans usually desired the same fare—fruit, boiled eggs, toast and coffee. He ventured a bowl of steaming onion soup and I somehow sank back on the pillow.

Of all tradesmen catering to ocean voyagers I believe the florist is farthest out in front. Corsages for each day of the trip may be sent to Milady so prepared that put on ice they are fragrantly fresh. Orchids are incased in glassine tubes and the last-day bouquet is as fresh as the first.

I am told that one feminine fare received nine corsages for each day—a total at a conservative estimate of $300. All of which assailed me with the thought of how many hungry that would feed for the trip. O, yes, for invalid passengers florists have diverting vases of oddly colored fish.

* * *

In a swing around the promenade today it seemed the most popular book among passengers was "Stalin," by Isaac Don Levine. At least, I counted five copies, and Edna Ferber would have been pleased at this late day to know they are still reading "Cimarron." I saw three copies.

* * *

A wave of economy has obviously swamped the French boats. At lunch I noticed the customary free bottles of wine—vin blanc et rouge—were missing from the tables.

* * *

Our neighbors at the adjoining table in the dining room are an aristocratic looking family of four, decidedly British. There is the silver-haired mother, an attractive daughter of say 18, a son thoroughly devoted to fondling a thin sprout of a mustache and a little boy in Eton collar. They had no cocktails, table wines or cordials but at the finish of the meal all, save the lad, puffed their cigarets.

* * *

Miniature golf has naturally struck the liners. The dance floor of a large salon is carpeted with a stubbly green carpet and there are eight holes to be made through rather difficult dinguses—imitation logs, winding runways and such. After dinner, men and women in evening dress were moving about the course before large groups of spectators on the sidelines. It was my first view of a golfer in a full dress suit and sporting a monocle.

* * *

The ship's daily L'Atlantique in its "On Board" column says: "O. O. McIntyre will be sending back to the States this and that comment for his day by day column which appears in more newspapers than he can name. He gathers material during his deck promenade in the late afternoon, so they say, and yet he never looks left or right." They do not know I don't have to. I have spies everywhere.

* * *

In fact one of them just came in, removed his spade-shaped beard, liner uniform and behold Hawkshaw, Operative 2Q! He tells me that in the Suite de Luxe "Versailles" the occupant is Miss Gertrude Lawrence and there are enough flowers there to carpet the Grand Central rotunda. Also that she received 52 wireless and 119 telegraphed bon voyage messages. We are about to give Hawkshaw his conge—or is that the word? I have no dictionary—for not counting Miss Swanson's messages.

* * *

Ray Long, Jr., brought a wan 5-year-old worldling with three front teeth missing to call this afternoon. He seemed anxious to leave and I asked why. "I'm afraid I might frow up some more," he replied.
